Chamber of Commerce Committees Are Called To Meet

ANNOUNCEMENT is made in today's paper that the Glendale chamber of commerce has requested a conference of all the members of the different committees recently appointed.

The purpose of the meeting is to secure a harmonious plan for working out the various problems of the chamber and city. As there are seventeen committees, this means if all committee members attend there will be a goodly number of Glendale business men taking part.

* * *

THE meeting has been called for Friday night at 7:30 o'clock and every committee member should set this night aside and attend the conference. The call for co-operation by the directors of the chamber should be met by the citizens in like spirit.

We have stressed from time to time the importance of a Chamber of Commerce in the upbuilding of a city and the stronger the chamber the more thriving the city.

The problems confronting a Chamber of Commerce are numerous and it is not possible for the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, or any other body of men, to answer them in a way which will be satisfactory to all. The call for a conference shows a desire to answer the problems by community thought, which will mean they will be answered so as to benefit the greatest number of citizens.

EFFORT is being put forth by the citizens of Van Nuys, assisted by other valley points, to elect one of their citizens as a member of the Los Angeles City Council. As evidence of good faith and their interests in the small towns which have been annexed to Los Angeles the Los Angeles voters should elect the Van Nuys candidate by their own vote. There are many reasons to suggest doing this and none but political ones against it. The outside communities have their own problems and if they are represented by one of their own citizens they will feel that their interests will be taken care of in better shape.

VAN NUYS MAN SEEKS LOCAL SUPPORT

To Ask Glendalians to Win L. A. Votes for That City's Council

The San Fernando chamber of commerce and other civic bodies of the valley are strongly advocating the election of Mr. Wardlow of Van Nuys as a member of the Los Angeles city council. Next Tuesday twenty autos containing speakers and accompanied by a band will visit Glendale in Mr. Wardlow's interest, in the belief that many Glendalians have Los Angeles friends whom they can influence to vote for him.

At the recent meeting of the San Fernando valley chambers of commerce, Glendale was represented by a group of citizens, including Secretary Sanders, L. T. Rowley, Ray Bentley, C. D. Lusby, Jesse Smith, Peter Ferry, W. E. Hewitt and Dr. Jessie Russell.

The leading speaker, Congressman Lineberger, urged chambers of commerce to analyze all problems carefully before taking action, to avoid getting themselves into an embarrassing position because of too hasty action. Mr. Kennedy of the public utilities board of Los Angeles talked on transportation problems, strongly advocating bus lines to augment electric railway service. The next meeting of the associated chambers will be held in Tujunga.

ALHAMBRA KIWANIS IS LIVE BUNCH

Guest of Local Organization, It Makes Big Hit

RECORD ATTENDANCE

Half a Dozen Other Cities Send Delegations to Glendale

BY W. L. TAYLOR

The largest number of members and guests present yet at any luncheon of the Kiwanis Club was evidenced yesterday when seventy-one members and nearly one hundred visitors from Alhambra and ten other Kiwanis Clubs enjoyed a fine dinner at the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse dining room, Lexington and Central avenue. Three large tables occupying the greatest part of the spacious dining room had been formed into the letter "K" and the chairs so arranged as to make it very plain that the ladies understood the significance of the Kiwanis idea when it comes to eating a good meal.

The Alhambra club was out forty-four strong; Santa Monica sent over six members, and Hollywood five, besides a half dozen other clubs were represented, including Modesto, Pasadena, Los Angeles, Kokomo, Ind., San Francisco and Burbank. Les Henry of Pasadena, one of the prime movers in the National Kiwanis movement, was present and made a few encouraging remarks, emphasizing the fact that the Glendale Kiwanis Club has reason to feel proud of the splendid organization of which it can truthfully boast. W. R. Garrett, president of the Santa Monica club, also made a few remarks to the effect that his little city by the ocean has one of the baby clubs but is coming on at a pace which promises to place it far in the front rank. Other visitors were introduced and had a few words of congratulation to offer the local club.

The program was turned over to C. E. Reed, president of the Alhambra Club, and there was not

ACACIA MOTHERS NAME DELGATES TO CONFERENCE

The appointment of delegates for the district conference and the naming of the membership of a nominating committee were the chief matters of business taken up at the regular meeting of the Acacia Avenue Mothers' club, Parent-Teacher association, held yesterday afternoon at the school with the president, Mrs. Arthur Wilson, in charge. The delegates and alternates to the conference, which will be held in Los Angeles, April 26 and 27, are Mesdames W. B. Alexander, Bennett, Moll, Klapper, Weihe, Edwards, Denman, Lord, Sutton and Sudlow. The financial chairman reported $69.95 cleared at the recent vaudeville show given for the benefit of the club.

It was announced that the club had purchased a valopticon machine for use at the school. The following members of the nominating committee were appointed from the floor: Mrs. E. B. Sutton, Miss Mary Rich, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Lord and Mrs. Emma Sudlow. It was decided to hold "fathers' night" on May 11. Plans were made for a neighborhood party to be held at the school on Thursday of next week in conection with the observance of National Play Week. Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations, was present and sang the P.-T. A. song. A social hour, with games and refreshments was enjoyed.

More Residence Permits Are Issued This Month

EAGLE ROCK, April 21.—Building permits for the current month have reached over $156,000 which shows that there is a building increase over the past few months. This represents a total of more buildings than listed in previous records, although last month's building represented more money than can be expected for some months to come, owing to the fact that a bank building permit boosted up the record considerably, making it amount to over $300,000. Most of the permits for the month have been for residences of from four to six rooms, which points to a substantial increase in population every day.

MEETING CALLED

A meeting of the Southern Glendale Improvement Association has been called for Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Cerritos Avenue school. Hugh Bryant, chairman, and the members of his committee, who have charge of the arrangements, have promised many novel surprise features in connection with this dance, which they say will surpass any of the previous successful events given by the lodge.

FR. GALVIN TAKES CHARGE OF HOLY FAMILY CHURCH

Declares He Is Too New to Give Impressions of the City

Father Michael Galpin who arrived this week to assume his duties as officiating priest of the Holy Family Catholic church, says he is very favorably impressed with his new field of labor and very optimistic concerning the future of the church. While he is still too new to want to make authoritative statements about his impressions, he says he likes the "go-ahead," hustling spirit of the city, and believes he is going to be very happy

He comes to Glendale after six months' service in South Pasadena. He spent four years in St. Brendan's church on Western avenue, going from there to the cathedral, and was then given his first charge in Fullerton, where he remained for several years.

GLENDALE VERDUGO PARK PURCHASED BY HADDOCK-NIBLEY CO.

Deal Enters Escrow Friday Afternoon Between the Buyers and Walter Jones, Owner of the Former City Property

OWNERS MAY ORGANIZE COUNTRY CLUB

May Decide to Form One of the Finest Resorts in Southern California on the Site of the New Property of the Company

The Glendale-Verdugo park, consisting of approximately 104 acres, upon which the city has been enjoined from making further payments and forbidden to buy, has been purchased by the Haddock-Nibley company, the price paid being $100,000. The deal was put in escrow yesterday. The purchase was made direct from Walter Jones, former owner of the property, the city having turned the park back to him.

All of the money paid toward the purchase price of $60,000, the figure at which the city was securing the park, and the amount spent for improvements and interest, aggregating $33,123.98, is being returned, according to one of the agreements of the escrow, back into the city treasury. This will be done at the completion of the escrow.

The money to be refunded to the city is divided as follows: Original payment, $20,000; interest, $1400; improvements, $9627.60; maintenance, labor, $1298.20; maintenance, material, $798.18.

The new owners of the property are undecided as to just how they will improve the park. It may be made the site of the Glendale Country club, according to Mr. Haddock, one of the members of the Haddock-Nibley company, this morning.

"If we decide to establish a country club there," said Mr. Haddock this morning, "we will construct a beautiful clubhouse 'way up in the canyon, and will make it one of the finest things of its kind in Southern California. There will be a swimming pool, tennis courts and other forms of outdoor amusements. In fact, we will provide everything that could possibly be desired. If this scheme is carried out there will be no homes constructed on the property.

"Another plan that presents itself to us is the dividing of the property up for the purpose of erecting a number of beautiful summer homes on the land.

"However, just what we will do with the land we have not yet decided, but I can say that whatever is done will be done right. There will be nothing cheap permitted on the property. It is one of the finest pieces of hillside property to be found in this section of the country and we believe it has a wonderful future.

"If these methods of improving the property are discarded it will probably be cut up into high-class homesites."

EASTERN FOLKS EXCEED RECORD

Santa Fe Reports Increase of 41 Percent in Arrivals Over April, 1922

An announcement is made by the Santa Fe railway, through Jas. B. Duffy, general passenger agent Los Angeles, that the influx of people into California by that line during the first 17 days of April exceeds that of last April by 41 per cent, and that there is every indication the proportion will exceed that percentage for the balance of the month. Although the California Limited has come in in two sections every day, and crowded, it is announced that the regular overland trains of the Santa Fe are bringing in a much greater proportional addition to the population than the Limited, an indication, the railroad official states, that the larger travel is composed of settlers.

It is pointed out that the April travel is, as a rule, comparatively light, as it immediately precedes the opening sale of summer excursion tickets. This year, however, the steadiness of the travel movement has been most unusual, and no doubt reflects a trend toward the Pacific coast of an unprecedented volume of people interested in the agricultural development of California. It is noted that the travel is not settling in any particular locality, but is destined to various parts of the state.

MEXICO'S RECOGNITION IS FORESHADOWED

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The long controversy between the United States and the Obregon government in Mexico has reached a stage considered in official quarters as forecasting an early complete agreement.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. WHITE ON MONDAY

Pioneer Advocate of Women's Rights to Be Honored in Death

Funeral services for Mrs. Harriet White, who came to Glendale about 16 years ago and who was one of the produest most loyal citizens Glendale has ever had, will be held Monday afternoon in the Little Church of the Flowers at 3 o'clock.

It is reasonably certain that the friends who will wish to pay their last tributes will overflow the small church, as she was beloved by a very large circle of men and women of all sections of the United States, of all walks of life and all creeds, political and religious.

She was 81 years of age, having been born April 26, 1841, and up to the day of her death maintained her keen interest in the affairs of the world, from the viewpoint of an optimist.

She was one of the last of the group of advanced women who were the pioneers in the suffrage movement, was the personal friend of Susan B. Anthony, Mary Livermore, Julia Ward Howe, Frances Willard, Anna Shaw, and among her effects are many personal letters from them.

Always a generous hearted woman, her philanthropies were many and practical. As a consistent advocate of higher education for women she was responsible for sending several young women through the university of her home state, Wisconsin, all of whom justified her expectations and are now holding positions of honor. Her father, William Wilson McLaughlin, was one of the most prominent men in Wisconsin, and for several years was a member of the legislature of that state.

She greatly loved her adopted state, California, especially that part of it that is included within the confines of Glendale, and was one of the early and most loyal members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, which she served as historian for three years.

The services will be concluded by Dr. C. Elwood Nash, pastor of the Universalist Church of Los Angeles, of which Mrs. White had been a member ever since she became a resident of California.

She leaves one son, McLaughlin White, with whom she made her home at 519 East Raleigh street. Mr. White is attorney for the Title Guarantee and Trust company, and his success in his profession was a matter of great interest to his mother.

SCHOOL BONDS TO BE SOLD APRIL 30

Superintendent Richardson D. White has been advised that the bond issue for the city schools will be sold on the 30th of April at the office of the board of supervisors in the Hall of Records. It will be the first of June before the money will be available for expenditures by the board, as all the proceedings will have to be reviewed by attorneys for the buyers. Meanwhile the board has made conditional contracts with architects whose plans will be in shape for construction contracts to be let by June 1. This will be a pretty good record in view of the fact that the bond election was held March 15.

THE HARROWER TEAM TO PLAY BALL SUNDAY

The baseball nine from the Harrower Laboratory will clash with the 160th infantry team from Los Angeles in a game to be played at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the grounds at Park avenue and San Fernando road.

COVINA DEFEATS GLENDALE IN FAST GAME

Visitors Knew All the While They Had to Play Ball

Coach McIntosh's squad of Covina ball men tossed Glendale Friday night on Glendale High's own grounds in a fast and interesting game, the final score being 5 to 1 in favor of Covina.

The game was closer and faster than the score indicates. In both the first and second innings Glendale's pitcher had the Covina pitcher in hot water. In both instances they had the bases full and only one down, but the "lemon" slinger managed to pull out with his hide, and it was inability to hit in the pinches that cost the dynamiters their game.

When there was no one on base, singles and doubles were plentiful, but when the bases were full Glendale could not hit to save herself. The home team has improved greatly, however, in both fielding and batting. Its members handle themselves better on the field and at the plate than they did at the Citrus game. All are new, green men except one, Lavelle, and Coach Butterfield has had to build the team from a crew of raw material.

Bradbury pitched a good brand of ball but slow fielding got the visitors their digits. Their first run came in the third when Welch smacked a 3-bagger to deep center and was sent home by the hitting of his team mates. The rest of the "lemons'" runs came in the fourth, sixth and ninth innings.

Wirden of the visitors knocked a homer over the fence. Lavelle, Pomeroy and Muff did the best hitting for Glendale and will bear watching next year, as they are improving rapidly. Practically the whole team is made up of sophomores with a freshman at third and a junior at backstop.

PLAY WEEK PLANS ARE COMPLETED AT SCHOOLS

Physical Education Departments to Take Charge

Everything is in readiness for the observance in Glendale of National Play Week, April 22 to 28. Monday is to be observed as Athletic day, featuring play festivals at each of the city schools under the physical education department. For Tuesday a number of neighborhood parties have been planned. Not to be outdone by any of the other sections the people in the neighborhood of the Acacia Avenue school have made arrangements for a neighborhood party to be held at the school grounds on Thursday night. Mrs. McDowell and Mrs. E. B. Moore will have charge of the games and the general program will be under the direction of Mrs. Wm. Alexander, program chairman of the Acacia Avenue P.-T. A. The fun will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Wednesday night is the big inter-community music night at the high school, when the program will be put on by Hollywood talent. Representatives from the Hollywood Women's club and chamber of commerce will be greeted by representatives of the Glendale organizations. A special invitation is extended to the various musical organizations of Glendale to attend and assist in making this event a big success.

In keeping with play week the members of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle will start the study of the book, "Play in Education at their regular meeting on Wednesday.

CITY TEACHERS ARE HOSTS TO P. T. A. EXECUTIVES

At the dinner given by the City Teachers' club Friday evening in the banquet hall of the chamber of commerce, covers were laid for 105 at tables beautifully decorated with Cecil Brunner roses in the carrying out of a pink and violet color scheme.

At the main table were seated the officers and guests of hoonr, Miss Carrie Noble, the president, being toastmistress. During the dinner and at intervals throughout the evening the stringed trio of Mrs. Enona Hopkins furnished musical numbers. In the after-dinner program Mrs. Arthur C. Brown responded to the toast to the Board of Education, Mrs. E. B. Moore to the toast to the P.-T. A. Federation, and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who was the chief speaker, to the toast to the Tuesday Afternoon club. Miss Whitlow of the Cumnock School of Oratory, gave as a reading "The Florist Shop," and the balance of the evening was devoted to informal sociability.

THANE EVANS OF TUJUNGA MAKES RECORD WALK

Little Thane Evans, 5 years old of Tujunga, is the champion walker of his age in these parts.

The supposition is that Thane walked from his home in Tujunga to the residence of Mr. Herberger, 229 North Louise stret, Glendale, in less than 8 hours, which is "some walkin'" for a pair of little feet and a couple of chubby legs. Anyhow, Thane, in some manner, covered the distance in that space of time. He was paced by his two pet dogs.

When the lad appeared at the Herberger home the proprietor called the Glendale police and Officer Simmons took the boy to the police department. He was given free run of the officers' private quarters.

A couple of hours later Mr. and Mrs. Evans, worried and tired from searching, called at the police department and asked the local police to help them find their wayward son. They were told to peep into the adjoining room. They did. In the center of the floor, playing roughhouse with his two guardians, was their boy.

The three "partners" were piled into the family car and taken to the little Tujunga ranch.

CHAUTAUQUA FOLKS ARE CALLED TO A GUARANTORS' MEET

A meeting of the Glendale guarantors of the Ellison White Chautauqua is called by L. A. Hart, president, for Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the office of the secretary, 113 East Broadway. Every member is urgently requested to be present.

$1,735 BROOCH STOLEN

Burglar Makes Way With Property From South Maryland Home

USED PASS KEY

Mrs. Ruth McBride Reports Theft and Police Notified

A brooch containing 29 diamonds and valued at $1735 was stolen from the home of Mrs. Ruth McBride, 737 South Maryland avenue, between the hours of 7 and 9:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, according to the police. It was three and a half inches long, the diamonds being scattered along its entire length.

At about 7 o'clock Wednesday night Mrs. McBride started out for an automobile ride, leaving the brooch sticking in a pin cushion on her dressing table. When she arrived home at about 9:30 o'clock she noticed that it had been taken. The fact that none of the windows or the doors had been opened leads to the belief that entrance to the home was gained by the thief by means of a pass key. Nothing but the brooch was taken from the McBride home.

Immediately upon the theft being reported to the Glendale police department, Detective Royle was sent to the McBride home to investigate. Officers Royle and Simmons are now working on the case. The police departments of the nearby cities have been asked to be on the lookout for the missing article. The company with which the piece of jewelry was insured has offered a reward of 10 per cent of the value of the brooch.

HIGH ORCHESTRA TO GIVE CONCERT

The oratorical is over but that does not mean that there will be any chances to loaf on the part of the students. There are too many things in prospect. One of the biggest is the concert to be given next week by Glendale high orchestra, probably Thursday night instead of Friday, the date first announced.

The admission is to be only 25c and the proceeds will be used for the purchase of kettle drums.

It is a hard-working body of young people, self-governing, in which leaders have been developed who can conduct rehearsals any time the regular director is called away.

There is a leader for each group of instruments who is responsible for the proper tuning and for the general conduct of his particular body of players.

During the school year the organization has played about 40 times for activities of the student body and other events.

CITY ACTORS IMPROVE ON FIRST SHOW

Achieve Atmosphere and Identity As Players at Second Performance

AUDIENCE APPLAUDS

Harry James Repeats Success of First Night and Hits Are Many

By CORINNE ORFF

Some show! That was the unanimous opinion of those attending the "Fun Revue" performance last night given by the Glendale Community Players at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium for the benefit of the American Legion building fund, and those who attended filled the auditorium. It was a very marked improvement over the first performance given Thursday night and compliments are being showered on all who took part in it. Although organized only six months the Community Players have displayed most unusual talent which points to further and larger successes in the future. Much praise is due to Miss Nanno Woods for the many hours of patient directing for the production, and to Miss Dorothy Woods, ballet mistress. The organization last night showed it had achieved atmosphere and identity. With these it can go far.

English wit and humor, as exemplified in the monologues given by Harry A. James, again brought down the house last night, as on Thursday. Mr. James, who is exclusive artiste for Gennett Records and manager of the James Record Shoppe of 117 South Brand boulevard, is one of Glendale's most popular entertainers and generously contributing of his talent. His delivery and effective pauses went over for spontaneous hits.

Many of his best friends did not recognize Frank Booth in his make-up as a Southern colonel, until consulting the program. Mr. Booth gave "My Old Kentucky Home." Little Joseph Taylor did a clever clown dance. Frank Butterfield as the man from Egypt and also in his vocal number came in for a good share of applause. Mr. Jinging (R. W. Stinson) as the circus man, certainly was some "barker." Cyril Holway carried off his lines very well as the rejected lover. Litle Constance and Marguerite Steelman were very dainty little flower children in the wedding day scene.

The song and dance numbers by Miss Dorothy Morton, Miss Dorothy Woods, Miss Kathleen Woods, the comedy sketches by A. E. McCoubrey, Maurice Widdows and Stephen Huntington all went over with the same big success that marked their presentation at the opening performance on Thursday. Not one member of the entire cast was overlooked in the many compliments which were being extended by those who saw this sparkling musical comedy.

The "Irish" song, words and music, for which were written by Mrs. Woods, as presented by Mr. McCoubrey, with the chorus of

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH FILLED AT RECITAL

More Than Four Hundred Attend First Concert on New Instrument

The opportunity to hear the splendid new pipe organ which was recently installed at the First Congregational Church was taken advantage of by over 400 people of Glendale who attended the recital given last night by Dr. Ray Hastings, organist of the Philharmonic auditorium of Los Angeles; Mrs. Howard E. Cavanah, contralto soloist of the First Congregational church, and Miss Lilla E. Litch, accompanist organist of the First Congregational church.

From the pealing forth of the melody of the wedding march from "Midsummer Night's Dream" (Mendelssohn), which opened the program, to "The Return of Rhadame's Army" from "Aida" (Verdi), with which it concluded the most rapt attention, marked admiration and applause continued throughout the entire recital. The rich contralto voice of Mrs. Howard Cavanah delighted the audience.

In addition to the regular program which had been arranged Dr. Hastings was called upon to give several request numbers, including "The Evening Star," "Largo" (Handel), "Mighty Lak a Rose" (Nevin) and "Melody of Love" (Hastings).

SEEK RECORDS OF MEN OF UR, 5000 YEARS OLD

LONDON, April 21.—American and British archaeologists engaged in excavating the Tomb of the Moon God in the ancient city of Ur of the Chaldees have begun the search for the records of Abraham, says an airplane dispatch from the Bagdad correspondent of the London Daily Mail. The excavators, says the correspondent, hope to recover the world's first and oldest library of original works on history, religion, art, law, science, and the narratives of the affairs of men 6000, and perhaps 10,000 years ago. When the work of the expedition is done, he adds, it may yield a wholly new story of the inception of the religious movement that prepared the world for Christianity, or it may corroborate the story in Genesis.

Describing his visit to Ur, the correspondent says that it is probably to this 6000-year-old city that the world owes the development of cities, great irrigation schemes, gardens, water supply, the use of lead and asphalt, drainage and fortress building. "Bricks," he writes, "were made in Ur earlier than in Egypt. Here the arch was invented and the vault systematically used in monumental structures, and it was in Mesopotamia that the dome became prominent. Forty centuries before Christ, Ur was a great city in the midst of cultivation. Even now the line of silted-in canals can be seen stretching away to the far horizon.

"For more than 2500 years," the correspondent proceeds, "since Darius and his Persian hordes swept over the land, Ur has been deserted except for Bedouins. That the ruins of a vast city which was once trod by Abraham are there is definitely known. Only tentative exploring shafts have been sunk here and there over the wide expanse, but each has yielded relics of a lost people, the Sumerians. It is now known that after Abraham left Ur there came a long period of difficulties. The impending collapse of the dynasty was probably the reason for his departure.

"It has been discovered that after destroying the city the conquerors laid pavements over the principal buildings. The tablets, buried in the archives beneath each set of pavements, tell the intimate stories of the daily lives of the kings and leaders, merchants, property owners and slaves. Tablets found at Ur show that legal transactions, including marriage contracts, sales and tenancies, were witnessed by six persons. It is expected to find the record of property sold by Abraham before leaving Ur.

"Records obtained so far show that the Sumerians were nearly extinct in Abraham's time, so that the records are earlier than the Nippur collection. The intentions of the American and British experts are to excavate to the first record of occupancy at Ur. Among the finds are tiny leaves of gold which, according to the records, were set upon the lips of the dead; a manikin of three feet, clad in a sheepskin with tail hanging down, made of some hard, green stone, and hoes and axes, wrought in stone, which were placed on the altar of the Moon God as emblems of industry."

INTEREST IN KITE NEARLY COSTS BOY'S LIFE

EAGLE ROCK, April 21.—A small boy, flying a kite, came very near to meeting with fatal injury yesterday morning about 10 o'clock when he ran in front of the delivery machine driven by Ursal Farnsworth, 143 South Acacia. The accident occurred at the crossing of South Royal Drive and Colorado boulevard.

Mr. Farnsworth, driving along at a moderate rate of speed, saw the youngster dart out from the curbing suddenly, in the direct path of his machine. He threw on the brakes, but after they were set the car skidded and struck the startled boy a glancing blow which bowled him over. Mr. Farnsworth took the boy to the address which he gave as his home but did not learn his name. His injuries did not appear to be more serious than a flesh bruise on one leg, with possible other slight bruises.

The delivery machine was owned by F. W. Mueller, 738 E. Colorado boulevard.

DAHLIA COMMITTEE TO BE CALLED AGAIN

EAGLE ROCK, April 21.—The dahlia committee, in charge of the big dahlia show held in Eagle Rock last year, which many persons claim rivaled the show at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles in beauty of the products if not in the setting, will be called to meet again soon for the promotion of plans for another such affair this season. The show this year will no doubt be on a more extensive scale than the last one. From now on there will be an organized movement to make this an annual affair for Eagle Rock, just as the Tournament of Roses is a yearly feature at Pasadena. Eagle Rock will be made worthy of its name, "The Dahlia City," which has been in use on public stationery and in booster advertising for some time.

Mrs. C. W. Young is chairman of the committee of last year and is the active worker in organizing the committee here again.

WEINIE BAKE IN THE CANYON FOR THEIR BIRTHDAYS

EAGLE ROCK, April 21.—With a "wienie bake" and huge campfire in the canyon at the highest point of Ellenwod drive, Miss Marjorie Ball and Mrs. Paul Elderkin held a joint celebration of their birthdays last night. The Congregational choir, of which Mrs. Elderkin is soloist, was invited and several other close friends of Miss Ball and Mrs. Elderkin also took part in the evening's pleasure. During the baking of the wienies in the huge campfire, Shirley Allen told Bible stories. About 17 were present.

HOLDS UP FILLING STATION

SANTA ANA, April 21.—Sticking a small automatic pistol into the face of Jerry Meldrum, operator of a Standard Oil company filling station at Tenth and Main streets, Santa Ana, a youthful bandit got away with $29 in silver and currency at 8:30 o'clock last night.

The bandit, who appeared about 20 years of age, calmly walked into the station and chatting a minute with the operator, who was seated in the rear of the station, walked up to him and commanded: "I hate to do this but open up the cash register."

Meldrum says he did not hesitate but walked to the cash register and ringing up "no sale" opened it and stood at the business end of the revolver while the bandit obtained most of the collections of the shift.

SELF REVEALING DREAMS

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE
Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1923, by The Associated Newspapers)

All dreams, if we may accept the Freudian formula, are revelatory of the inner life of the dreamer. Whatever the trivialities with which they deal, however fantastic their form, they will when correctly interpreted help the dreamer to know himself better.

The great difficulty, as Freudian psychologists themselves are frank to admit, is that the task of correct dream interpretation is usually a formidable one, far too formidable for anybody untrained in psychological analysis. Still there sometimes are dreams which virtually interpret themselves, and which do strikingly bear out the doctrine of dreams as aids to self-knowledge.

Take, for example, an odd little experience recently narrated to me by an old friend:

"At the dinner table one evening the question came up of our closing the house and making our home in an apartment hotel, as many in our circle of acquainatnces have done.

"The kitchen problem had become acute, there was difficulty in the management of the furnace, and altogether, as I told my wife, the logical thing seemed to be to give up the housekeeping struggle.

"That night I began to dream, almost, it seemed to me, the moment I fell asleep. And all night long I passed in succession through one unpleasant adventure after another.

"Without exception, these adventures took place in an apartment hotel of a sort. We had found it impossible, it appeared, to obtain good quarters, and my room was a bandbox, contrasting pitifully with the spacious rooms of my house.

"It did not even have a proper door, so that I was obliged to stoop and scramble in, as some small animal would scramble into a hole. When in the room I was tormented by a lack of light and air.

"Then the dream shifted, and I found myself in a lower corridor, talking to a friend who had taken up his residence in the same apartment, but was about to start on a long journey. He had a great deal to say to me before he went, and he said it in a loud, declamatory way.

"What he said I have not the slightest notion. But in the progress of my dream, I remember, a bevy of ladies the following morning swooped on me in the apartment entrance, demanding what I meant by letting 'that terrible man' keep them awake most of the night by his loud talking.

"There was more to the dream, much more, all in the way of dramatic illustration of the possible inconveniences of life in an apartment hotel. Next morning I detailed it to my wife, adding that it had made clear to me that whatever the difficulties of keeping house I should prefer them to an apartment existence."

And indeed this dream was manifestly an elaboration of a train of thought started in the depths of the dreamer's mind by the dinner-table discussion the evening before the dream. It unmistakably revealed to him his inmost emotional reaction to the idea of breaking up his home, and thus served to warn him that, constituted as he was, to break it up would mean for him discontent and unhappiness.

To judge from dream literature in general, it is comparatively seldom that dreams with such directness help to an understanding of one's true sentiments with regard to problems and situations concerning which one is in doubt. But I suspect that dreams of this type actually occur with considerable frequency, being left unreported and unrecorded simply because the natural tendency is to report only the "extraordinary" in dreams.

In any case I would welcome from readers instances in which they have themselves been directly aided by dreams to a clearer self-knowledge. From a collection of such instances might be derived added insight into dream psychology in its practical applications.

QUEEN'S THRONE TO BE TRADED FOR MONEY

EAGLE ROCK, April 21.—The girls from Glendale high school who were picked to execute the Maypole dance at the American Legion auxiliary dance, May 5, will be on hand to sell the candy to be made by the auxiliary members, in the "Mystic Circle" which will be turned into a huge decorated festival booth for the occasion on April 27 and 28. Each girl will be given a number, and when the proceeds of her sales are turned in, the girl who has the most money will be chosen to reign as queen at the May festival dance. In this way the honor will fall upon the young lady who can rally the most friends to her assistance — financially. There can be no question of favoritism in the choice of queen this way, those promoting the candy sale and dance believe. Each girl will have an opportunity to work for more sales than her competitors.

Each auxiliary member will be responsible for making up ten pounds of sugar into her favorite recipes. Mrs. L. E. Hammond is in charge and will be glad to supply information on any matter relative to the candy sale at any time.

a dull moment from the time the "fainting stunt" was pulled by one of the Alhambrans until Cam Thom was fined 50 cents when he made the inquiry, "where is this little hamlet, Alhambra, located anyway?" Forest V. Routt, singing master of the Alhambra club, was right there with the music, and in its application to local members he made quite a hit.

President Brown took occasion to question several Glendale members upon the history of Kiwanis and succeeded in collecting several fines from those whose memory was bad. He might have collected more money, he said, but felt that it would be an imposition to ask Glendale club members to defray the expenses of the Alhambra Club on such a delightful visit here.

Alhambra's live Chamber of Commerce Secretary Reed was called upon and gave a much appreciated talk. He said the Kiwanis club, co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce, had worked wonders in bringing to the attention of the country the city of Alhambra, and that an advertising campaign and a campaign of progress had been inaugurated in the little city which was proving a great success.

"This is courtesy week," said Mr. Reed, "and I wonder what we as members have done to make its application apply to ourselves?" W. L. Truitt was asked the above question and he said that courtesy should begin at home and that he had endeavored to make a personal application of the principle in his home by "handling the children more courteously."

"I see Glendale is about to join the Tourist Hotel chain," said the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce from Alhambra. "Alhambra has already hooked up on the hotel proposition with the same chain and we consider it a good proposition."

W. B. Brown, district governor of California, in his published report pays a great compliment to Glendale Kiwanis Club and the Tuesday Afternoon Club. A paragraph reads: "If you want your stomachs satisfied, visit the Glendale club. Mayor Robinson is a member and has a great voice, and he uses it to help things along. The Tuesday Afternoon Club ladies personally supervise and cook the meals, and they are great. Lucky fellows!" concludes this complimentary paragraph.

WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD, IS CLAIM

The old hackneyed expression, "worth its weight in gold" in one instance contains more truth than poetry according to Mr. Claude Roudebush, local manager of the Western Auto Supply company, who relates the following: "We are always interested in reports from motorists who try out our equipment on their cars. Many interstring tales are told of their experiences. An interesting story came to my attention the other day from one of the users. A geologist, who makes these extended trips thru the deserts of Nevada on geological investigations, had equipped his Ford with a Yale Oiling system before starting on one of these expeditions. So hazardous were these trips that he always made them alone, not wishing to shoulder the responsibility of the life of his companion.

"He would plan these trips weeks ahead, carefully equipping his car with such fitments as he would need for such a trip. At last, after careful preparation, one morning found him well on his way, taking with him a maximum supply of gasoline, oil and water, trusting his life to his faithful Ford.

"Leaving civilization behind, through arroyos and mountain stream beds, long since dry, dodging boulders, through greasewood shrubs and mesquite plants he traveled. After traversing such country for over one hundred and fifty miles he at last reached his destination where after obtaining the samples he had come seeking he began his long trip homeward.

"He gave no thought of his car outside of the regular routine of putting in gas and oil, and his faithful flivver never failed him. Upon his return home, recalling the racking and tear that his car had been subject to, he decided to give it a complete overhauling and general inspection. Upon removing the transmission housing it was found that the oil line had been clogged and from the nature of the deposit which it contained it was evident that it had been filled with sediment for a matter of perhaps weeks. His engine had been equipped with a Yale Oiler, and when he was told of the fact that the oil line had been so clogged, he told the foregoing story and added: 'I figure that oiler saved my life and it's surely worth its weight in gold, for it would have cost me at least $100 to be towed from that place (had I ever got back) and the job of overhauling would have cost not less than $50 and might have cost me a new engine. That's why I say that the Yale Oiler is worth its weight in gold for it weighs in the neighborhood of three-quarters of a pound and at the present price of gold is worth about $150. Believe me, I'll never drive a Ford unless it is equipped with a Yale Oiler."

GOOD WEEK END BILLS AT THE GLENDALE

Standard Vaudeville and "Top of the Morning," Tonight Only

Standard vaudeville and Gladys Walton in "Top of the Morning" will feature the Glendale theatre program tonight. Gladys Walton is credited with some of her best work in "Top o' the Morning." The little star has proved herself an emotional actress of the highest order in spite of the fact that a year or two ago she was looked upon only as a clever comedienne. She will be seen today only at the Glendale theatre.

If all the world loves a lover, a treat is in store for the patrons of the Glendale theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, when Charles Ray's second United Artists production, "The Girl I Loved," will present that favorite star as one of the most ardent and dramatic swains that ever sought a woman's hand. Mr. Ray is said to reach acting heights in this picture never surpassed and seldom equalled on the screen.

The star began his stellar career in a very dramatic role seven years ago. In the years since his versatility in comedy has almost obscured his great ability as an actor of finer parts. In "The Girl I Loved" this ability comes out, it is said, with tremendous force before a picturesque background that is lively and gay.

The events occur among the happy rural people of Indiana from 1840 to 1860, and compose a panorama of typical American life that is now seen rarely. Through this panorama runs the personal love story of the poet, James Whitcomb Riley, as he related it in the verses from whose title the picture takes its name.

Under his United Artists contract Charles Ray is now making only big caliber productions, two a year, and this he regards as the greatest of his career. It is the tale of two men who sought a maiden's hand, one of them with tragic ardor. It is clean, like all Ray stories, but carries a tremendous punch. The girl is Patsy Ruth Miller, and it is predicted that the beauty and talents she displays in "The Girl I Loved" will make her a star forthwith.

Joseph De Grasse, who is responsible for Ray's previous United Artists picture, "A Tailor-Made Man," one of last year's big hits, also directed his latest. The cast also includes Ramsey Wallace, one of the stage's actors of international celebrity.

Pythian Sisters Honor Its Visitor

In honor of the visit of the district deputy, Mrs. Weatherby, the members of the Glendale chapter of Pythian Sisters entertained with a banquet, following the regular meeting of that organization held last night at the K. of P. hall at Park avenue and Brand boulevard. Mrs. Jolliffe, most excellent chief, was in charge of the meeting, at which time six candidates were initiated. There were visitors present from the Purity Temple degree staff and Van Nuys chapter. About 100 were present at the meeting.

It sometimes happens that when an actor finds things coming his way he tries to dodge them.

S. M. V. A. HAS BIG MEETING AT CITY HALL THIS A. M.

EAGLE ROCK, April 21.—More than the usual number of the S. M. V. A. (Saturday Morning Violators' Association), as Judge H. J. Cruzan's Saturday morning "class" of ordinance offenders and law breakers is called, were scheduled to be haled into the local court today. Forty-eight traffic violators were listed, and one or two small-claims cases. The "boulevard hawks" (or "Eagles" might be more appropriate), Mercer and McMahon and the special officers who have been on duty this week, have found more time than usual to pursue the offenders within local boundaries, and as a result registered a full house for the judge today.

PROMINENT CLUB WOMEN TO MEET AT ATLANTA

ATLANTA, April 21.—The "Biennial," the crowning event of every club woman's life, to which she looks forward during the two years intervening from one biennial to the next, is to be held this year for the first time in the south, and Atlanta is to be hostess. The convention will be held from May 7 to 11, and genuine southern hospitality will be dispensed to delegates representing club women and women's affairs from all parts of the world.

Prominent persons in American official and club life are expected to be in Atlanta for the sessions. Among those expected to attend are Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs; Mrs. George Minot Baker of Massachusetts; Mrs. Rose V. S. Berry, Mrs. Horace M. Towner, Mrs. Percy Pennypacker, Anna Steece Richardson, editor of Woman's Home Companion, and Ida Clyde Clarke, of the Pictorial Review.

Although the delegates will be chiefly occupied with federation business of importance, the social side is not to be forgotten, according to plans announced by Mrs. B. M. Boykin, president of the Atlanta Woman's club and official hostess to the convention, and Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, chairman of arrangements. Social events already planned include a "typical southern barbecue," a garden party on the lawn of the Atlanta Woman's club, a trip to Stone Mountain and a concert at its base, visit to the home of the late Joel Chandler Harris, writer of the "Uncle Remus" stories, visit to the Cyclorama to view the $100,000 painting of the battle of Atlanta, a banquet to visiting press representatives and other functions.

The Atlanta Women's club's new auditorium theater, costing $125,000 has just been completed and a banquet hall to cost $50,000 will be finished in time to be used to entertain the delegates and visitors. The Atlanta club has a membership of 1400 and regards its plant as one of the finest in the country.

General sessions of the convention will be held in the auditorium of the Baptist tabernacle.

CARTOON LESSONS DRAW BIG CROWD TO TABERNACLE

"The Jim and Jerry" story, cartooned by Evangelist Jerry Jeter drew the largest crowd to the Jerry Jeter tabernacle that has been seen at a religious gathering in Glendale since the days of the John Brown meetings. Mrs. Jeter gave an illustrated lesson of "Let your light shine before men," by having a big crowd of children march with lighted candles around the tabernacle while the lights were turned out.

Tonight the evangelist will speak on, "What Shall the End Be?"

At the 10:30 hour Sunday, he will speak on "The Powers that Lift Men."

Mrs. Jeter will give a Bible hour at 2:30 on "Altruism."

"The Greatest Detective Story in the World," will be the closing subject of the campaign, Sunday night. The Jeters go from here to Stockton for their next campaign. They were there a little over a year ago.

SAN FRANCISCO (United Press)—Three big golf tournaments to be held from April 25 to May 20 are being prepared for by members of the Berkeley Club. The events will be held over the course in the Richmond Hills.

The northern California amateur championship will be sought beginning April 25, followed by the Northern California women's championship match from May 1 to May 5 and on May 12 and 13 and May 19 and 20, the high handicap winners will meet.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

A LA MODE

The office boy's leaving,
Tom, Jack, Jim or Bob,
Whatever his name is,
He's thrown up his job.
No longer, he tells me,
He'll labor and toil,
He took a week's wages
And struck it in oil.

The clerk gives me notice
He's leaving at once,
For years, so he tells me,
He slaved like a dunce.
They've brought in his gusher,
And life is all play,
His units are bringing
A thousand a day.

The fair little typist
Is gone from the chair
Where she sat with pencils
And pens in her hair.
And there I shall give her
My letters no more,
Her oil well is spouting,
She's on the ground floor.

They drive by in motors,
The typist and clerk,
With plenty of money
And no need to work.
No clerk and no typist,
No Bill, Jack or Bob,
I'm all of the office
There is on the job.

SCOUTS TO HAVE ROUND TABLE AT SUNSET CANYON

Executive Board to Give Dinner to Scout Masters and Assistants

A bully good program has been arranged for the first annual meeting of the Troop Leaders' Round Table at the Sunset Canyon Country club, Monday evening, April 23.

As an evidence of the appreciation they feel for the great work that has been accomplished among the Scouts the executive board will give a complimentary dinner in honor of the Scoutmasters and Assistant Scoutmasters in the banquet room of the club preceding the Round Table meeting. The time set for the dinner is 6:30 o'clock. In accordance with the above, A. R. Eastman, president of the Verdugo Hills Boy Scout council, has sent a personal invitation to every Scoutmaster and Assistant Scoutmaster to be the guest of the executive board. Invitations have also been sent to all members of the executive board, chairmen of all committees and troop committees.

The program for the Round Table meeting will be published in next Monday's Daily Press. The personnel of this committee comprises M. F. Gilmer, chairman; Benjamin Robison and S. V. Jolliffe.

Election of new officers of the Round Table for 1923-24 will also be in order. The nomination committee, consisting of Frank C. Ayars, chairman; A. C. Cox and E. B. Thomas, have already met and have selected two candidates for each of the offices of chief councilor, first councilor, second councilor, scribe-treasurer and pep promoter.

Scout leaders who do not have cars will be taken to the Country club in automobiles. The machines will leave the district Scout office at 6 p. m.

THE MARKETS

[By Associated Press]

NEW YORK, April 21.—Operations for the decline were successfully conducted in today's brief but active session of the stock market. High grade railroad shares, which previously had offered strong resistance to selling pressure, dropped 1 to 3 points. Sharp recessions also were noted in the industrial group, particularly in the equipments, steels, oils and motors. There were a few isolated points of strength, Pan-American being run up 3 points and some of the sugar shares moving to higher ground on additional reports tending to confirm a shortage in the Cuban crop. The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 675,000 shares.

Stock prices fluctuated within a narrow range this week. Moderate strength developed in the first few days but the market turned somewhat reactionary later upon announcement of governmental action intended to prevent speculation in raw sugar, reductions in the prices of some of the important commodities and the department of commerce's warning against over-expansion in business.

Bond prices displayed a firmer tone. French government issues sold around the year's top prices and there was a better demand for both speculative and investment railroad mortgages. United States government issues made little progress because of the uncertainty concerning the terms of the government's next financing.

One of the most significant developments of the securities markets was the increased foreign demand. Reduction of British taxes brought freshing power into the market and was responsible, in part, for the strength of Canadian Pacific stock which advanced ten points to a new high record, and for improvement in some of the foreign bonds. Atchison, General Motors and Anaconda copper also were reported to have been bought for foreign account.

Oils were inclined to heaviness on announcement of cuts in gasoline and kerosene prices. Coppers enjoyed a brief period of strength on reports of an increased foreign demand for the red metal, especially from Germany, but trading in the non-ferrous metal shares was restrained somewhat by a cut of $5 a ton in the price of lead. Sugar shares, most of which had mounted to new high records in response to the high prices for the raw and refined products, broke 1 to 3 points following the governmental proceedings against the coffee and sugar exchange.

BEAUTIFUL FLINTRIDGE VIEW SITES ARE IN UNUSUAL DEMAND

CALL FOR HOMESITES IN THIS BEAUTIFUL FOOTHILL SECTION GROWS AS SPRING APPEARS

Flintridge Highlands, the Latest Section of This Property to Be Placed on the Market, Embodies Many Charms That Are All Its Own

By J. HAROLD SCHENCK
General Manager Flintridge Sales Co.

There are fashions and vogues in homesites just as marked as in the realms of dress and architecture. It is particularly interesting this spring to note the popular demand for hillside, hilltop and highland building sites. Even the slightest elevation will soon be at a premium. Someone in Hollywood or Flintridge leads the way in building daringly on an eminence. The public has been quick to follow this lead.

This spring we find home builders taking to the hills in greater numbers than ever before. There is scarcely an elevation of any consequence within reach of the city where the sound of the hammer and the buzz of the saw is not heard. It is evident now that the fast development of hillside properties is much more than a popular fad. It is a natural accompaniment of the city's growth. As the lower levels become more and more developed in the direction of the hills, public attention is awakened to the supreme desirability of elevated sites.

Man naturally prefers to live just a bit higher than his neighbors. The increased elevation seems to bring a satisfaction in itself apart from the material advantages of drainage and outlook. The movement has been carried so far in some quarters that we now have the spectacle of homes apparently supported by foundations attached to a side wall, miraculously attached to the sheer face of a precipice.

In response to the demand for picturesque skyline homesites, we have been doing some interesting engineering work at Flintridge. The high ridge of hills that forms the south border of the Flintridge parkland, comprises much of the most magnificent property in the entire region. The high development of Flintridge proper has made it necessary to open the highland property for occupancy.

For weeks, construction gangs with steam shovels have been at work grading and building contoured boulevards up into this beautiful wooded tract. The development work has scarcely begun, but already we have made an unusually large number of pre-opening reservations for people who have been awaiting the opportunity to buy in this region.

From every parcel of Flintridge Highland magnificent views of the surrounding country are to be had. Far below is the wide sweep of the famed La Canada valley, with the immaculate Flintridge parkland and the fairway of the Flintridge golf course in the center. Opposite is the most beautiful sector of the Sierra Madre mountains. In the opposite direction over the crest of hills, Los Angeles and the ocean can be seen, with Catalina visible on clear days.

In Flintridge Highlands we are making available to the discriminating public one of the choicest highland areas lying within easy reach of the city. The entire region is shaded by oaks and sycamores. Brooks flow in the cool canyons and ocean breezes sweep the hills. Into this rugged, picturesque region we have brought all modern conveniences of easily-ascended boulevards and bridle paths, water, gas and electricity. Flintridge Highlands will appeal strongly to the man who counts a few minutes farther from the city a small price to pay for the privilege of living in a region of matchless beauty.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

BY E. R. WAITE
Secretary, Shawnee, Oklahoma, Board of Commerce
(Copyright, 1922, by E. R. Waite)

THAT every city stands today on the verge of what can be converted into an era of phenomenal development.

THAT the men who make a study of community development know that business and manufacturing must gradually center in cities that are showing a spirit of community growth.

THAT they also know that the factor that is especially calculated to discourage the coming of new industries is where a city shows no spirit of progressiveness.

THAT if a city wants to enjoy even normal growth and development she must show that progressive spirit.

THAT if nobody pays any attention to the needs of a city, if everybody just minds to his own business, a city will stand still.

THAT the only way to move ahead is through a vigorous and concerted effort of every business man.

THAT the city that tends to community growth, that makes the most of its natural resources, that helps to keep up its appearance as well as helps to develop the surrounding country, will get somewhere.

THAT some cities are good starters but poor finishers.

THAT an unattractive looking city hasn't half a chance.

THAT IN ORDER TO ATTRACT NEW INDUSTRIES A CITY SHOULD KEEP DRESSED UP. A GOOD FRONT GOES A LONG WAY.

TO FURNISH HOME IS INTERESTING WORK

What is there that holds more charm than the experience of furnishing a Colonial house?

It just seems to tell you what it would like for its own dress and the style has been so beautifully fashioned that all will do well to follow in the footsteps of our forefathers for direction.

The hall just naturally calls for a grandfather's clock on the stair landing and a console or table against the wall with a mirror over it, and on the table a pair of candlesticks or, prism lamps with a bowl for cards or flowers.

We expect to find a settle and a chair or two, rather austere and high-backed, of the Windsor Queen Anne or William and Mary type.

The hall, living room, library and dining room may be carpeted all over in a plain floor covering of chenille or velvet carpet and here and there placed Oriental rugs just where they will give a note of utility and color; that is, a runner in the hall before the fireplace between the archways, etc.

Figured linen, heavy silk rep or damask make a nice treatment for draw curtains with sheer gauze or marquisette tie-back curtains for the glass.

The selection of the furniture is the chief joy, for first we decide on the centers we are going to make, and then buy just the right Georgian or Windsor furniture.

For father's corner we want a wing chair and stool covered with all-wool tapestry, and by it a little butterfly table and bridge lamp. Then for mother a St. Francis' chair with a tilt top table on one side and a Martha Washington table on the other.

We want to arrange a corner for the piano and Victrola near the light and a comfy dark corner for the davenport.

In the library we will have book shelves, a comfortable table with several drawers in it, a good sized desk, and, of course, easy reading chairs.

The dining room furniture would be nice in Chippendale and add to the regular suite a tea wagon and muffin stand.

One of the bedrooms would be delightfully furnished with floor covering of hooked or round rag rugs, draperies of chintz with tie-back muslin curtains; then a poster bed, highboy, dressing table, spinet desk, small gate-leg table, and one or two lovely Wallace Nutting pictures.

Thus one can make the Colonial home just radiate rest and comfort.

THIS WOULD CUT COST OF LUMBER

In conformity with its policy of practical accomplishment in the elimination of waste and the greater utilization of the products of the forest, the National Lumber Manufacturers' association has again offered a series of prizes which will be awarded to those who contrive the best method, the newest machine or device, which, in practical application, will result in an appreciable saving of labor, time, material or expense in the lumber manufacturing industry.

Heretofore, a single prize of $1000 was offered each year to the successful contestant.

At the present time the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association is offering prizes amounting to $2000, which will be divided as follows: First prize, $1000; second prize, $500; three prizes of $100; four prizes of $50.

Following are some of the conditions of the award:

The award committee will be the sole judge as to the eligibility of all suggestions submitted in this competition.

The comparative value and practical merit of all suggestions or material submitted will be judged by the actual commercial gain to be obtained and will be determined by the award committee of lumber manufacturers to be chosen from the membership of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association.

All suggestions or material must be submitted to the technical and research department of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, International Building, Washington, D. C.

After the prize is awarded the National Lumber Manufacturers' association reserves the right to publish, at its discretion, sketches, designs or illustrative and descriptive matter covering any suggestions or material submitted, the benefits under patents to be retained by the contestant.

If the competition develops suggestions or material that will fulfill these requirements, award will be made in 1923 at the twenty-first annual convention of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association.

The entire purpose of this contest is to create within and without the industry inventive interest which will result in practical conservation of forest products and reduction in costs in manufacture, and such results are, of course, equally in the interest of sound public policy.

TIP TAPS TOO MUCH ON DOORS OF RESIDENCES

Have you seen Tip?

Some folks of Glendale have and they have wondered what and where the mystery is.

Tip Griggs has been around Glendale the past two or three days. No one knows what he is here for—they just know he's here.

Tip goes to the door and knocks. When the housewife responds Tip hands her a car which reads: "Tip Griggs, the traveling mystery."

When asked what it is all about, Tip replies:

Never mind, you'll understand some day. It will be revealed to you," or words to that effect.

Then he walks away and rings the bell of the next house.

Tip lives at Romance Ark—herever that is.

He was picked up yesterday by Officer McLean. He didn't sleep in Romance Ark last night—he occupied cell No. 1.

He was permitted to go happily on his way, providing he left Glendale.

COST OF BUILDING HOME IS TOLD

There must be some difference of opinion regarding the advantages and disadvantages of owning one's domicile, because more than 102,000 families in Los Angeles are renters, said R. Holthy Mayers, in the Los Angeles Realtor recently.

This estimate is considered conservative. Despite the fact that Los Angeles, as has been described in The Realtor, is ahead of New York, Chicago, Boston and San Francisco in percentage of owned homes and is above the average for the nation, there are still many families in this city that should hold title to the habitation in which they reside.

Tables of growth and building permits make it comparatively easy to confirm this estimate of more than a hundred thousand families (not individuals), who are buying shelter—that is, paying a landlord for necessary protection against elements.

In whatever way we consider some of these who are included in that great mass of humans, who are more homeless than the birds of the air, it must be admitted that many desire "a home of their own," and are denied the gratification of such desire for many substantial reasons.

Sometimes the calamities of life—sickness, accident, lack of employment, death and other causes—impair the family fortune and earning power, so that ownership seems, and is finally accepted, as an impossibility.

Others, by reason of seasonal or itinerant employment, are necessarily without a permanent abode.

Multitudes are loath to give up their liberty of travel and "wanderlust" and soon lose the desire for permanency.

Unnumbered thousands, by reason of incompetency or criminal tendencies, are continually shifting from one employment or place of activity to another, totally unable to hold a place in either industry or society.

Indolence and pure laziness contribute a great throng who seek the easy apartment house life.

Extravagance and lack of thrift probably account for the most of our tenants.

Too many of our young people are only concerned in present-day living.

Often at the peak of their earning power they spend far beyond their needs, saving nothing for the future, thereby losing the possibility of ever owning a home or anything else of permanent value.

Another class are timid and inexperienced in choosing a homesite in a new and changing community.

They want a home.

They intend to buy or build one some day.

They spend days, weeks, months and years in an eternal quest for just the lot and location of their dreams and imaginations.

Frequently they are willing to accept only the most exclusive and high-priced neighborhood, something so far beyond their means that they abandon hope and interest in the project.

Few consider the problem of home ownership from a strictly business viewpoint.

If they who pay rents for shacks, rooms, apartments, courts and other temporary places of abode, could realize that the owner and landlord are naturally exacting a business-like profit on their investment the occupants would surely abandon the thousand and one debilitating indulgencies which prevent the purchase of a home which today is one of the very best investments.

There may have been a time when it was cheaper to rent than to own. That day has gone forever.

The average renter is paying a goodly return on the landlord's investment.

This cost is only warranted on the part of the transient guest or those whose employment is transitory.

We have many guests here, it is true, but they are all prospective permanent residents, and if we had any way of finding out we would doubtless be surprised at the number who came to visit and then wound up by become home owners.

Any one may figure the interest value of his own home. As illustration:

A lot costing	$2000
House (5-room)to cost	3000
Total	$5000

Rental value, say $65 per month, producing $780 per annum.

Taxes, estimated	$ 45
Fire insurance, estimated	10
Maintenance, estimated	60
Total	$115

Net return on $5000, $655 or 13 per cent; $780 minus $115 leaves $665.

There are arguments, of course, against home ownership, but they are not well founded. The appreciation of the real estate in any good neighborhood will easily offset the depreciation in the building.

You can "slip" any pansies that kept over winter if you want a stock of them. Take the shoots from the roots and put them in wet sand in a sunny window.

SPARR HEIGHTS IS NOT A DEAD ONE

"In some parts of the West," said Mr. Barnum of Barnum & Walters, subdividers and developers of Sparr Heights, "one may see what might be called the bleached bones of dead towns. These are melancholy reminders of moribund industries, and are located in what were once mining or lumbering centers. The veins of minerals were exhausted or the lumber was all cut; the industry died and the people were compelled to go elsewhere to earn a living.

"Every town and village in California that is contiguous to a center of population is prosperous. They are the overflow of the larger communities, either profitably ministering in their industries to the city's needs, or are home-centers whose bread-winners are themselves a part of the city's business life, and choose suburban domicile for the greater freedom and individuality which the smaller community affords.

"Although all of our towns are prosperous, not all are equally desirable for distinctive homes. Some of them are as purely commercial as the city itself, and are busy centers of agricultural or horticultural distribution. Others furnish cheap homes on small lots for the wage-earner who is tired of paying rent and cares little for aesthetic surroundings, a shelter for his family where he can pay for his home on a monthly payment basis being his only consideration. Others, still, house the thousands who serve the rapidly growing industries which promise in a few years to outclass those of any eastern center and make Los Angeles the largest city on the continent.

"Sparr Heights is in none of these classes. It is so located that the town is the logical outgrowth of its position, which is one of unequalled beauty and strategic importance with reference to Los Angeles, Hollywood and Glendale. It is purely residential in character and all of its industrialism will be local in its ministrations and will exst only to serve the community and those centers of population tributary to it.

"Its beautiful sites for distinctive homes are attracting the business and professional element that desires moderate priced lots with a scenic outlook, congenial permanent social affiliations for their families and opportunities for golf, hiking and riding. Here, also, they may have all of the utilities now considered desirable and indispensable to the convenient and attractive home, without extra cost for installation.

"Such purchasers are not speculators in real estate, but have the constructive urge which creates the best class of communities. They realize that at Sparr Heights 40,000 people may be accommodated with distinctive homes without crowding or the creating of city conditions.

"Business is already preparing for this population. Along the boulevard, the activity in the building upon business lots is attracting much interest, while the increase of the traffic on the electric road which passes through the entire length of the tract, has more than doubled in the past few months.

"As I have said, Sparr Heights is a purely residential city, and its commercial district, within ample limits, is already definitely set aside for all the future. With its school grounds already in the possession of the Glendale Board of Education, its Community Center building nearing completion, and its admirable golf course, it is already rapidly fulfilling its promise of becoming one of the most important communities contiguous to Los Angeles."

Give the asparagus beds a nitrate dressing. About a pound and a half to a square yard. Also salt them if you want to keep down the weeds and make the "grass" tender.

Dig parsnips and oyster plants before they get a chance to start into growth, and put them in the cellar or in the barn.

RHEUMATIC NEURITIS

Says His Prescription Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pain and Twinges; Is Guaranteed

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of ALLENRHU, the sure conquerer of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

ALLENRHU has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen of Rochester, N. Y., discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. Roberts & Echols can supply you.—Advertisement.

Meet Opportunity Half Way

BORDERLAND ROUTE TO EAST IS NOW OPEN

Bankhead highway, Borderland route, San Diego to El Paso and easterly points: There has been considerable amount of travel over the planked road between El Centro and Yuma, approximately 30 cars per day using that road between those points this winter.

From Yuma to Welton it is in splendid shape and from Welton road construction is under way to a point just west of Sentinel. The old road has to be used into Sentinel. This is to the south of the new highway under construction and has been very badly cut up on account of the activities of teams and construction outfits; thence fair and poor stretches of dirt road to a point 7 miles west of Gila Bend, then improved gravel road into Gila Bend. Both routes between Sentinel and Tucson—the one via Ajo or the one by Phoenix, are being used extensively at present and both have been sign-posted by the Automobile club of Southern California.

The balance of the highway, from Tucson to El Paso, is in splendid shape, Motorists going to New Orleans or Florida should inquire at the El Paso Automobile club to determine their routing across Texas—whether to continue on the Bankhead highway, which follows the T. & P. railroad to Fort Worth, Dalias and Shreveport, thence over the Jefferson highway to New Orleans, or whether to use the Old Spanish trail via Van Horn, Ozona, San Antonio and Houston into New Orleans.

NEW DEPT. STORE OPENS ABOUT APRIL 26

Ferber Chain Stores Select Glendale As Best City for Store

Plans are being made for the opening of the new Ferber Department store on next Thursday morning, April 26, at 9 o'clock.

The store is to be located at 108 South Brand and work on the new front has been going on for the past month. The store will have a modern, up-to-date front finished with linotile lobby, low front case and built up rear case with two side show windows. Two sets of double doors will provide the entrance into the building and the entire interior will be finished in mahogany and ivory; two tone ivory will be the color scheme on the window background.

The interior equipment will include a complete set of modern fixtures. The Lamson cash carrier system, with a center desk will be the method employed for handling cash. The ready-to-wear department will be in the rear of the store, with two fitting rooms.

The A. Ferber Company, Inc., is a new firm to engage in the chain department store business of Southern California and contemplates the establishment of stores in Long Beach, Pasadena, Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, San Pedro and Alhambra. The combined buying power gives them an opportunity to offer merchandise at prices that are highly favorable to the consumer. The Ferber store will be one of the busy places of Glendale and it is stated from authentic sources that they are planning on a much larger store in Glendale for the future.

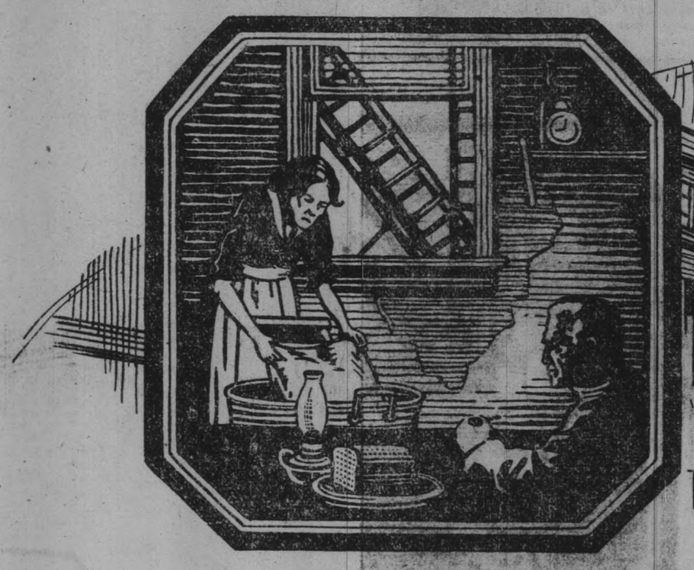
Harry Gladstone is to be the manager of the Glendale store and will have complete charge of same. Mr. Gladstone has an enviable record for being a successful business man and will take his place in the business life of the community. Every effort is being made to complete the store by Thursday morning, April 26, the date planned for the opening.

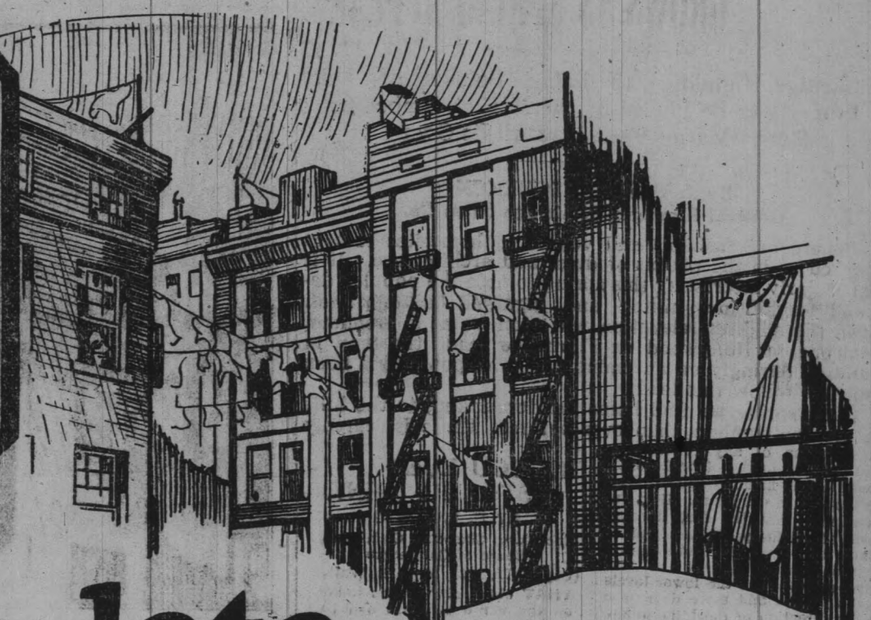
Thousands of Gold Fish at Big Bear

SAN BERNARDINO (United Press)—Thousands of gold fish, their beautiful coloring enhancing the beauty of Big Bear Lake, are increasing so fast, according to Game Commissioner W. C. Malone, that there will soon be more gold fish than trout in Southern California's well known resort and fishing lake.

While not certain of how the goldfish got a start, Malone believes fishermen brought them as bait, the ones not used being thrown in, thus starting the vast schools of gold fish now there.

The trout hatchery has been working overtime, Malone reports. More than 2,000,000 trout will be placed in the streams of Southern California soon.





It's never too late to be sorry

. . . the price of folly is not a net cash transaction in the ledger of mankind. What you can't "afford" today may be paid for a hundredfold in the years to come. Multitudes are self-imposed dependents in the tomorrow of their lives just because they could not "afford" what an immortal has aptly called "the sacred refuge of our life"—a HOME!

. . . wise is he with the foresight to sacrifice a little today for the reward of tomorrow. No man's work is complete until he has made a home . . . a sacred moral obligation to society. "Home" cannot be another man's house.

. . . "it's never too late to be sorry." Resolve today to "afford" a home . . . for your own self-respect and for those whom it is your duty to make happy. That we have an opportunity of helping you is more than just business to us . . . it is fulfilling a great mission of making better men, happier families and a greater community.

High, level, view land between inspiring foothills and the broad valley below . . . right in the best of Glendale, hemmed in by the finest residential development and directly in the path of its greatest growth . . . this is Kenilworth Park which bids you, come make your home or invest your funds. Our savings in a fortunate purchase of the tract are passed on to you in prices actually less than near-by unimproved acreage.

Permanent race restrictions and moderate building restrictions protect your investment yet allow you to build immediately, within your means. Kenilworth Park is too good to last . . . it demands an early decision. Today is none too soon.

Double Bungalow and Flat Lots

$20 MONTH

The fast Glendale-Burbank car line runs through the property with a car-stop on the tract . . . Glendale's beautiful new public park with two outdoor plunges, borders the property . . . stores and school are within a few short blocks. No pioneering here, neighbors all about you . . . yet you only pay pioneer prices which include crushed rock streets, cement sidewalks and curbs, gas, water and electricity.

Double bungalow and flat lots are on a 180-foot boulevard facing car line. Note the price and terms. Search Southern California over and you cannot duplicate it . . . action is imperative.

YORK BLVD. MANOR HAS VITAL FEATURES

There are two vital factors involved in the making of an ideal subdivision—nature, and a man with vision and an artistic understanding. Both have been combined to a marked degree in the development of York Boulevard Manor.

Wesley Roberts is the man who is responsible for the success of this alluring tract. With the eye of an artist and the vision of a prophet he selected a beauty spot in the heart of the rapidly developing Eagle Rock-Glendale district and converted a natural park into picturesque homesites.

"We have sold York Boulevard Manor lots solely on the merits of the property," said E. J. White, manager of Wesley Roberts Co. "We did not have to offer special inducements in the way of gifts, barbecues and movie stunts to bring the people out. Intelligent buyers, whether they are looking for desirable homesites or profitable investment, take the time to investigate and weigh carefully the many points to be considered before making a definite decision. We have simply told the public through the newspapers what York Boulevard Manor is like, and where it is situated. We have appealed to the thinking, practical, far-sighted individual who recognize a safe, sane and sure opportunity for profitable investment.

"As a home environment, York Boulevard Manor is not only ideally located, but has been especially favored by nature. Among the green hills and pleasant valleys of this beautiful scenic property, hundreds of homes will soon be nestling, giving shelter and happiness to the fortunate ones whose discriminating tastes have led them to our tract.

"When you consider all the advantages, aside from the picturesque character of the land, which York Boulevard Manor offers to homeseekers, it is not surprising that the demand for lots has kept our six tract offices busy from the opening day. Here are a few of the reasons why York Boulevard Manor looks good to so many people: The location is in the heart of the Eagle Rock-Glendale district, less than twenty minutes by auto from downtown; served by a five-cent car line; close to schools, stores and churches; gas, water and electricty; properly graded roads paved with decomposed granite; fertile soil that will grow anything; moderate restrictions; convenient terms—a most attractive proposition to the man of moderate means who is thus able to secure all the advantages of exclusive environment at a price well within his means.

"Our sales up to date exceed $500,000, and many re-sales, netting the original purchasers handsome profits, have been made. We are still selling lots on terms as low as 10 per cent down and 10 to 15 dollars per month.

NEW AUTO PLANE APPEARS

William W. Bradford Jr. of Baltimore, Md., is the inventor of an autoplane, for use on land and in the air. When a road gets too rough, his 25-mile-an-hour vehicle takes the air at 75 miles an hour and flies over the rough stretch.

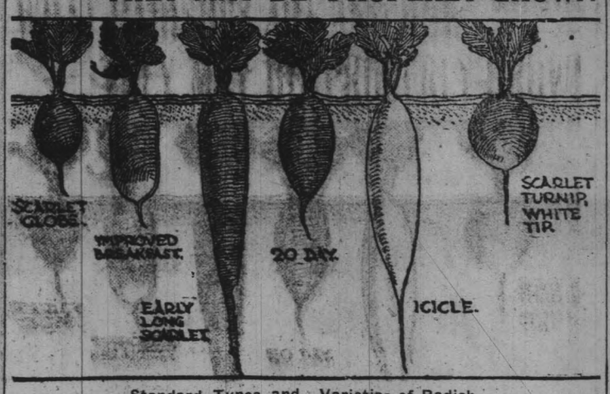
WHAT RADISHES ARE AND HOW THEY MAY BE PROPERLY GROWN



Standard Types and Varieties of Radish

The radish has been cultivated in gardens since remote times. The Greeks served it on gold plates in sacrifices to Apollo. Pliny tells of radishes in Rome that weighed 40 pounds. It was introduced in England in 1500. Queen Elizabeth had the choice of four varieties, each of which no doubt some one considered to be the best. The varieties we now enjoy are the lineal descendants of those historic sorts, and each has points of peculiar merit, otherwise it would be quickly abandoned.

Modern improvement in the radish has been along the line of shortening the season to maturity, and quick growth has been accompanied by a shortening of the root, producing the olive and globe-shaped types. Ancient radishes were larger, longer, stronger and slower of growth. The fastest growing variety now known is an olive-shaped white, called earliest white olive, which matures in 15 to 18 days, after sowing. A red olive variety generally known as the 20-day radish, is next, maturing in 20 days. These very rapid growing varieties have the defect of most fast growing vegetables, in that they require to be harvested immediately upon maturing. In a day or two more and they turn pithy and are useless. To get them up properly they must have ideal conditions, which for radishes include a rich, loose soil, plenty of water and cool weather. They cannot be grown in our summers.

Market gardeners usually avoid these sprinters of the radish tribe, and sow such second early as early scarlet globe, which matures in 25 days, and scarlet turnip white tip, or sparkler, which takes 28 days to mature. Both of these remain edible longer before turning pithy.

The older type of long radish, with a tapering root, matures in from 30 to 45 days, and remains a corresponding time without becoming pithy, so these are relied upon for producing a succession of crops in the garden. The most popular long variety for home garden use is Icicle, maturing in 30 days, sometimes reaching five and one-half inches in length. All radishes, it must be understood, may be eaten before they mature, and in the nome garden are to be preferred so.

There are globe-shaped radishes of longer season, growing much larger than the early types, such as Crimson Giant, maturing in 32 days, and White Box, maturing in 35 days, and growing to two and one-half inches in diameter. White Strasbourg is a long white summer variety growing large and maturing in 40 days, and Chartier is a red still later and larger, for hot weather growing.

Of the huge radishes known to Pliny and Queen Elizabeth we have survivors which are grown for fall and winter use and very delicious they are, and valuable additions to winter salads.

The radish has been cultivated in gardens since remote times. The Greeks served it on gold plates in sacrifices to Apollo. Pliny tells of radishes in Rome that weighed 40 pounds. It was introduced in England in 1500. Queen Elizabeth had the choice of four varities, each of which no doubt some considered the best. The varities we now enjoy are the lineal descendants of those historic sorts, and each has points of peculiar merit, otherwise it would be quickly abandoned.

Some Don'ts For "Bonehead" Drivers

When a man approaching you from behind sounds his horn as a signal to pass, don't "step on it"—draw over to the right and let him go by.

Do not use more than your share of the road, thus crowding others into the ditch.

It is not courteous to "steal" a parking space from a man who is just getting ready to back into it.

Do not imagine that every motorist on the road who tries to pass you is starting a race. He may be on important business.

When you pass a man from behind going in the same direction do not cut in directly in front of him.

Do not shove another man's car along the curb to make room for yours, thus jamming his car against a fire plug or the car ahead.

MORE AUTO RUNS TO YOSEMITE THIS YEAR

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—There will be more automobile runs to the Yosemite this year than ever before, judging from the initial announcement of the season relative to runs which has just been released by Maangers Don Tressider and Bob Williams of Camp Curry. Camp Curry will as usual be the goal of these runs.

The honor of being the first locality to send a run into the Yosemite this season will go to Modesto. The chamber of commerce of that city has announced an auto caravan into the valley for the latter part of April or the first of May, depending on road conditions. Over 100 cars are expected to participate. Wm. J. Silva, well known Modesto automobile man, will be in charge.

The famous Economy Run from Los Angeles to Camp Curry will arrive on Saturday, May 19, this year, the Camp Curry officials announce. Jack Waters, Los Angeles manager for Camp Curry, will be in charge of this year's Economy Run, which is expected to far surpass the successful events of previous years.

Fresno and Stockton will both send in runs during May, the tentative dates set for these affairs being May 12 and 26, respectively.

Special entertainments will mark the arrival of each of these runs at Camp Curry.

40,389 DEALERS NOW IN U. S.

There are now 40,889 automobile and motor truck dealers in the United States. Of these 2485 are in cities with populations between 100,000 and 500,000, 8192 are in cities with populations between 10,000 and 100,000, while 26,371 or more than half the total, are in small towns having a population of less than 10,000.

GLENDALE EDUCATORS SEE PREVIEW OF GREAT AFRICAN BIG GAME HUNTING FILM

A preview of "Hunting Big Game in Africa With Gun and Camera," given for the benefit of the educational leaders of the city, yesterday, at the T. D. & L., resulted in the endorsement of the film, to be shown Sunday and Monday, as educational in its appeal to the student element of the city.

The residents of Glendale, and particularly the school children and students, will have the opportunity of seeing the ten reel feature picture, "Hunting Big Game in Africa, with Gun and Camera, by H. A. Snow, said to be velous production in screen history, which is to be day and Monday at the T. D. and L. theatre. A preview of this unusual picture was held at noon yesterday and was attended by a selected audience composed of T. W. Preston, official film censor of Glendale; Richardson D. White, superintendent of public schools; Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the Glendale federation of parent-teacher associations; Mrs. John Robert White, past president of the federation; and Mrs. A. A. Barton, president of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, all of whom were very enthusiastic in their praises and recommended it highly.

On recommendation of this committee arrangements have been made for a matinee show to take place at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, so as to enable the school children to have an opportunity to see it after school. There will be other attractions in addition to this feature film.

The sensational picture, "Hunting Big Game in Africa," which played for over twelve weeks in New York city at $2 a seat, and for over seven weeks in San Francisco, was made by H. A. Snow, internationally known hunter and adventurer, and is said to be packed with thrills, laughs and surprises. Sidney Snow, 19-year-old son of the leader of the expedition, accompanied his father. With two camera men the party sailed from the Pacific coast in 1919 and spent two and a half years in the heart of darkest Africa. With the novel aid of the American fliver, more than 50,000 miles and ten different countries were covered. One hundred and twenty-five thousand feet of pictures were taken, of which 10,000 feet, with appropriate titles, are used in the theater attractions.

Remember, this picture will be shown only on Sunday and Monday at the T. D. & L. theatre.

MILTON MAKES FASTEST TIME

The fastest official auto time was made by Tommy Milton in a Duesenberg Special with two 8-cylinder motors of 300 cubic inches each. His time was 156 miles an hour. The fastest unofficial time was made by Sid Haugdahl with a 6-cylinder Wisconsin motor. His time was 180 miles an hour.

POINTERS FOR THE FARMER

Watch the ventilation of cold frames and hotbeds as the first warm days approach. You may save a lot of plants or kill them when the weather gets warmer. Sprinkle in the evening before sash is closed.

Don't put any fresh manure on the soil where you are to grow egg plants.

WHY THIS DOCTOR ADVISES HOKARA

Says It Gives Instant Relief in Many Skin Troubles

It is not often that a doctor comes right out and endorses any preparation, but when he does you may be sure it is something out of the ordinary. Read what Dr. Johnson, skin specialist, says about Hokara, the antiseptic, astringent, greaseless Cream:

"For over twenty-five years in my practice I have used many kinds of preparations called 'skin foods,' but never until I found Hokara did I see such beautiful and satisfactory results. I use it on all my patients. It cleanses the skin and makes it soft and fresh looking, producing firmness and giving power to the tissues. All those to whom I have recommended it are delighted with its use."

If you suffer with skin trouble so that the itching seems almost unbearable and the skin is so broken out that you are sensitive about your appearance, don't think it necessary to use some greasy, vile smelling ointment or salve. Just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Hokara. It is sold on a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back. The Jensen Drug Store, 133 N. Brand, will fill your orders.—Adv.

SUBURBAN HTS. IS GOING OVER BIG

A record attendance at the big Suburban Heights sale of homesites was evidenced at 2:30 p. m. today. From the onlooker's view, Suburban Heights unit No. 2 should follow in the path of No. 1, and be completely sold by tomorrow evening.

"Two blocks, part of the most desirable lots on the market have been held over for Sunday sales in order that buyers who are unable to be on the ground today will have an equal opportunity to "get in" on this exceptional profit-making sale," said Harold Blackmore, of the Suburban Realty company, today, who further states that it is confidently expected that only resales will be available after tomorrow night. A number of resales have been made in Unit No. 1 and in some instances these transactions have shown a profit as high as 20 per cent in less than a week.

"Some of our early purchasers have already started on the plans and designs of their new homes, and a goodly number of handsome residences should very soon be under way on Unit No. 2. This will naturally give an additional reselling value to all lots purchased today.

"Everything in Suburban Heights Unit No. 2 has been arranged for the buyers' benefit, in order that resales may be made quickly and property increase in value. All improvements are paid for by the Suburban Realty company, owners and subdividers. Gas, light and water is being installed, street work completed, transportation by street cars is within two blocks of the property and the new bus lines will pass on both sides.

"Taking everything into consideration, Suburban Heights Unit No. 2 offers today one of the greatest profit-making opportunities ever placed before Glendale residents. The terms, a small cash payment, then nothing for two years, will enable everyone with a little capital to "get in on the ground floor," and should be instrumental in making one and all a very nice profit in from 4 to 6 months time. Those who retain their holding for a longer period or build on their lots will naturally reap a still larger profit, in proportion."

TIRE SERVICE IS BETTER

A recent tire survey brings out the fact that the demand for tires in 1922 averaged 2.17 tires per car, as compared with 4.85 in 1916. The decreased requirements are explained by the fact that cord tires have almost completely supplanted fabrics on all cars other than the smaller ones. Consequently, motorists today are getting a great deal more service from tires than they did fix or six years ago.

OVERHEATED ENGINE

Overheating of the engine burns up the oil, causing friction, loss of power, scored cylinders, broken parts and possibly a bent crank shaft and cracked crank case.

ENTIRE FIRST HALF OF CHARMING RESIDENTIAL SECTION SOLD OUT

Exclusive opportunity to Glendale people to secure the pick of the glorious hillsides of Bellehurst Park will vanish next week never to return, according to the announcement made today by the Walter H. Leimert Co. An amazing record of quick sales has disposed of the entire first half of this charming residential park and the second and high half is now available at pre-opening sale prices to Glendale people in advance of the great public advertising campaign that will bring hundreds of outside buyers to this tract in the next few weeks.

There is only a limited amount of this superb park available at all. When it is gone there will never be any more at these prices anywhere within the metropolitan area of Los Angeles and certainly not within the same distance from Broadway and Brand, the business center of Glendale.

The Walter H. Leimert Co. has pursued a fixed policy in allowing the people of Glendale to secure first choice of both the first and last half of Bellehurst Park. In the case of the first half, over $250,000 in sales to Glendale people was recorded in the first three or four days of the initial announcement. Later all the world came to buy in response to one of the most successful advertising campaigns ever conducted in Los Angeles. The entire first unit sold in four weeks, a quarter of a million each week while it lasted.

Now the last half is open for advance reservations and the former opportunity repeats itself. Everything seems to indicate a repetition of the former experience with possibly even a greater demand for the higher elevation of the present tract.

Never in the exciting history of Glendale's marvelous growth has such a magnificent tract been opened as near to the business center and as beautiful as Bellehurst Park. Another month will see the end of this second unit and the buyers who locate here now will reap the profits of all future advance in values. For this reason the importance to Glendale of deciding at once on the best lots in Bellehurst Park is very urgent.

The development work in the first unit is now well under way and the same city improvements will be installed free to purchasers in the second half.

Representatives of the Walter H. Leimert Co. will be on the ground every day, rain or shine, to supply all information needed. Maps and prices are also available at the downtown Glendale office at 246 Brand boulevard. At telephone to Glendale 3098 will bring a representative of the Leimert Co. to your home.

A tremendous advertising campaign to start in a few days will bring hundreds of new buyers to Bellehurst Park and consequently new residents to this choice part of Glendale.

MANY STAGES IN S. CALIF.

Motor stage lines are growing in number throughout the entire country and are being extended with every addition to highway and boulevard. Here in Southern California bus lines have made greater and more rapid strides than elsewhere, due in part to our excellent highway system.

ECONOMIZE ON GAS

The gasoline bill can be reduced by never allowing the engine to run idle. A great deal more gasoline is used in this way than is suspected. Shut off the engine every time there is an occasion to stop the car for any length of time.

RESOLUTIONS FOR TREE PLANTERS

I resolve to make the acquaintance of one tree this spring. I will try to find out all about it, when it blossoms, what its seeds are like, what its value is, how it is cared for and what its principal enemies are.

I resolve to learn the names of all the trees that grow near my home.

I resolve to plant one tree where it will grow to be a useful and valuable addition to the community.

I resolve not to injure any tree by needlessly breaking its branches or wounding the bark.

I resolve that I will not carelessly start any fires that may spread to the woodlands and injure any trees.

I resolve not to disturb the nest of any bird, or kill any useful wild animal.

I resolve to use my influence to induce others to care for trees and to discourage all useless injury to trees.

I resolve to make the acquaintance of some animal, bird, mammal or insect that is a friend of the trees in its native place. I will try and learn how it lives and how it helps the trees.

I resolve to make the acquaintance of some insect that is injurious to trees. I will try to find out how it injures the trees and learn the methods that may be used to prevent its injuries.

FIRE!

Examine the exhaust pipe line and if it comes near anything inflammable it should be covered with asbestos. Faulty carburetion will sometimes overheat the engine and raise the temperature of the exhaust pipe to such a degree that it may cause fire.

Loosen up the dirt around the rhubarb and give it some commercial fertilizer.

FLEET OF RUM RUNNERS SEIZED OFF COASTS OF NEW YORK AND NEW JERSEY AWAIT FATE

This photograph was made at Port Newark, N. J., where twenty-one vessels of various descriptions were tied up and guarded by customs and dry law officials. Most of them were small craft caught off the New York and New Jersey coasts while engaged in bringing liquor ashore from vessels outside the three-mile limit. They were held to await their disposition by the courts.

RHOADES IS NOW ROSSMOYNE AGENT

James M. Rhoades, who for the past two years was secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, has joined the forces of the Haddock-Nibley Company. Mr. Rhoades will devote his efforts to assisting in the sale of Rossmoyne, the wonderful $2,000,000 property which the Haddock-Nibley Company recently acquired from Judge Ross.

In an interview regarding his affiliation with the Haddock-Nibley company, Mr. Rhoades says: "In giving my opinion of the Haddock-Nibley Company and its marvelous property at Rossmoyne, I do not desire to anything depreciatingly of any other subdivision in Glendale. To me they are all wonderful, and I am positive that every investor in any of them will reap handsome returns.

"I have had many years of experience in the subdividing business; in fact, I put in 20 years in subdividing property in Seattle, Spokane and Everett, Washington, and also in Missoula, Bozeman and Butte, Montana.

"I have observed conditions in Glendale for the past 2½ years, very closely, and I feel confident to venture my judgment on the trend of realty matters here. After severing my connections with the Glendale Chamber of Commerce I studied the entire local field with a view to again getting into the subdivision business, and after carefully considering the situation from every angle I selected on the Haddock-Nibley company at Rossmoyne.

"First: Because I had observed and admired the remarkable manner in which the Haddock - Nibley Company had laid out and developed Glendale Heights, in what was then a remote section of the city, making it into what is now one of the prettiest residence sections, and having met Mr. Haddock and Mr. Nibley on several occasions was thoroughly convinced of their honesty and ability.

"Secondly: Thousands of people have been waiting for years for the opening up of this property known as Rossmoyne, situated as it is on practically the only direct highway north and south out of Glendale, and with over one mile of frontage on Glendale avenue and a similar amount of frontage on Verdugo road, its location is choice beyond any question. It also has splendid transportation facilities, in the fact that the Glendale and Montrose electric line traverses the entire length of the property.

"Again: Every lot in this entire property, which consists of 700 acres, has on it full bearing orange, lemon, apricot, grapefruit, olive, sycamore, or live oak trees.

"The charcter of the improvements to go in here, all of which are to be fully paid by the company, will make Rossmoyne one of the most desirable home places in all the world.

"I am converted to it heart and soul and am confident of the ability of the Haddock-Nibley company to fulfill all its promises and being sold on it through and through, I am now going to find a great deal of pleasure in selling it to others."

CLEVELAND KNOLLS LOTS ARE BEING SOLD

The sale of a number of choice home-building sites in Cleveland Knolls during the past week was reported by the salesmanager of the tract, who goes on to state that several of those who have purchased lots in this tract are planning soon to begin construction on one or more homes. Building operations in this tract are already under way, and the types of homes that are being erected are out of the ordinary.

When the present owners of this property took these holdings over, they decided to make this one of the most exclusive home locations in the entire San Fernando valley. This was shooting pretty high, but subsequent developments have shown that these men with a vision were not over-estimating the value of the property they purchased. Today, Cleveland Knolls is just what the owners predicted it would be—one of the choicest home locations of this section.

This tract is located just east of Grand View road and extends from Kenneth road on the north to Glenwood road on the south, the entire piece consisting of 20 acres. The lots have been made large so as to provide plenty of room for the good-sized homes that will be placed upon them.

The street work in this tract has been completed. Sidewalks and curbing have been installed, and in fact, everything has been done that would tend to make this the tract supreme.

EUGENE, Oregon (United Press) The baseball season here will open April 23 and 24, when Oregon's team meets the Idahoans. The track squads are getting in shape also for the opening of Oregon's season May 5, when the annual dual meet with Seattle is scheduled.

Inclement weather during spring vacation when track squads stayed here for practice held up workouts. Coach Hayward has prospects for a strong track squad now, although not a well-balanced one. Coach Bohler has good prospects in the baseball field, practically last year's freshman squad.

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (United Press).—A schedule game between Whitman College and Oregon Agriculture College here on Saturday, April 28, will open the baseball season here, according to an announcement by Coach Borkeske.

HOMES INCREASING IN SPARR HEIGHTS

Building activity at Sparr Heights is on the increase every day, and the statement made several months ago by a careful observer and prominent business man that Sparr Heights would soon become a city of 40,000 or more, seems likely to become a reality within the next few years, or perhaps sooner.

Many new homes are under construction and hardly a day passes that a new residence or business block is not started. The Montrose Railway company has had to put on additional help in handling the hundreds of additional carloads of lumber being sent to Sparr Heights for new homes. Manager Hatch of the Montrose railway says the growth of the freight business on his line has made a phenomenal jump due to the development of Sparr Heights. Hundreds of carpenters, plumbers and painters are finding work in this new city which is in the making, and the building activity during the next few months will exceed anything dreamed of, is the opinion of Mr. Barnum, one of the owners and developers of this wonderful subdivision. Mr. Barnum will evidence his faith in that section by the erection of a fine home which he will start shortly. Other prominent men are building or planning to build homes on the Sparr Heights tract. While many are buying for speculation, it seems the majority of the buyers intend to build homes at Sparr Heights.

KEEP MOTOR OIL CLEAN

The motorist cannot be too sure when he buys oil from a drum that he is getting what he asks for.

Apart from selecting the right oil and buying in tins, the motorist must employ the oil so it will not have to lubricate under adverse conditions. Clean oil must be kept clean. If you use oil that has accumulated dirt, water, carbon and mixed sediment, the solid matter works into the oiling system and cuts moving surfaces.

The water mixes with the oil and forms an emulsion of reduced lubricating qualities as compared with uncontaminated oil. If the motorist will change the crank case oil every 500 miles, each time removing the oil pan and cleaning it, the utmost lubricating efficiency will be obtained from the oil.

Modern scientists now tell us the old-timers weren't so far wrong about the moon influencing gardens truck. But do not bother about it. Get the seed in when the soil will fall off the fork.

EXCITING FINISH IN CONTEST IS CERTAIN

With only seven more weeks till the close of the Consumers' Contest and several contestants running neck and neck for the lead, interest has reached a high pitch. So many labels were turned in at the office of the Glendale Press late Wednesday that it was impossible to complete the counting of them in time for Thursday's edition. The count for last week was not completed until late last night.

Raymond Hall, 348 Burchett street, is still in the lead with 796,700 votes, but he is being hard pushed by Dana Van Loon, 125 North Adams, who has 570,630. Robert Trowbridge, Jr., 1213 East Harvard, is still holding third place and has increased his vote to 549,200. Hundreds of housewives in Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank are working hard for their favorite contestant and although Raymond Hall, Dana Van Loon and Robert Trowbridge, Jr., are in the lead, thousands of votes are expected from "dark horses" and the winners of the contest will have to make a supreme effort to capture the valuable prizes offered.

Candidates are requested to make a complete list of the labels they enter and wrap them in a neat bundle with their name on it. This will greatly facilitate the counting of the labels.

Following is an up-to-date count:

Raymond Hall, 348 Burchett street	796,700
Dana Van Loon, 125 North Adams	570,630
Robert Trowbdidge, Jr., 1213 East Harvard	549,200
Mary E. Kirby, 618 North Jackson	395,100
Ruth Stein, 1214 East Broadway	372,900
Mrs. W. H. Harpster, 708 Porter street	349,200
Eugene Fisher, 608 West Doran	315,000
Donald Morrow, 516 West Doran	142,900
Elizabeth Jennings, 518 West Oak street	62,500
Fred Fallis, Corner Porter and Colorado	36,600
Mrs. Elsie Cramer, 216 South Adams	22,100
Mrs. H. E. Noland, 209 North Isabel	6,700
Harold Engel, 814 East Harvard	6,200
Eugene Rucker, 1513½ South San Fernando	1,000
Jim Joe Rhodes, 1145 Stanley	1,000

Truths in Epigram

Justice is like the kingdom of God — it is not without us as a fact, it is within us, as a great yearning.—George Eliot.

Knowledge and timber should not be much used till they are seasoned.—Holmes.

Whoever fights, whoever falls, justice conquers evermore.—Emerson.

SUBDUING AN EVIL INFLUENCE

The assembly at Sacramento has passed an anti-narcotic measure that appears "to have teeth" in it. There was no dissenting vote. It does not seem that any could have voted against it, so plain was the duty of support. Now the bill is up to the senate. There, the expectation is, its passage will be with equal signs of approval.

The Williams bill, as the measure is known, forbids the filling of prescriptions that have narcotics as the principal ingredient, but it makes prescriptions necessary for sales of narcotics. Of these a record, subject to inspection, must be kept. Every sale, wholesale or retail, must be reported to state authorities. There are severe penalties fixed for infractions. Vehicles in which narcotics may be found will be subject to confiscation.

As to the "dope" peddler, and others having the illegal stuff in their possession, there is a maximum sentence of ten years provided, this being for the second offense. Caution would suggest that it be set at life. However, ten years away from the activity of selling forbidden drugs may be sufficient to discourage the practice.

There have been frequent citations of the unexampled iniquity of purveyors of the deadly poisons. By selling their wares they create addicts. An addict is capable of any crime. The seller thus becomes accessory to every crime committed by his victims. He merits treatment of the utmost rigor. There is a feeling that the attempt to suppress the dreadful traffic will win. The proper law has been lacking. Now, after the senate shall have acted, it is believed the unholy traffic may be curbed and conquered.

MORE THAN ONE A DAY

Occasionally, it seems fitting to advert to the fact that many people are being killed by traffic accidents. A large proportion of the accidents might have been avoided by ordinary precaution. Most of them occur in connection with automobiles. There is reckless driving, wanton violation of rules; deaths follow as a natural sequence.

From January 1 to April 18, a total of 108 days, there were 131 fatalities due to such accidents in Los Angeles county. It is true that more automobiles are in use, considered in ratio to population, than in almost any other equal area in the world. This does not excuse the ghastly mortuary total. The available roads are of unusual excellence. Climatic conditions permit travel every day of the year. The only danger to be ascribed to weather is when the pavement is wet and induces a tendency to skidding. The great majority of drivers, however, seem to be on guard against this, and for once in their careers, to exercise reasonable caution.

Incompetent men, women and children are permitted to drive machines. They are not required to take their initial training in seclusion, but get it out on the open road. Their presence is a danger of course. The skilled driver must ever have in mind the eccentricities of the unskilled. However, the novice is not the chief danger. The selfish, careless and brutal driver, whatever his ability and experience, is the real peril.

It might be thought that the dire effect of present methods, read in the figures of the morgue, might be salutary. It appears to exercise no such influence. What the spectacle of death fails to check, is not likely to be eradicated by fines or periods of jail.

RURAL EDUCATION

Illiteracy in rural districts is said to be twice as great as in the cities. This is ascribed to the lack of educational facilities in the country districts. Some of the districts are not able to pay salaries such as attract competent instructors. They are sparsely settled, and the roads leading to the school are long and hard. However, the announcement comes as a surprise. It argues a new sort of country life, different from that of a generation or two ago. Then the American family, however remote, would not have allowed its children to grow up in ignorance of letters. The pioneers were not of the type such neglect must have indicated. They had ambition and initiative. Many a citizen whose youth was spent in the country, whose only school was that maintained by a district far from any town, never came in contact with an adult unable to read, and didn't know that such persons existed.

In the cities of southern California the schools are kept at a level of which the community is proud. They are beautifully housed, liberally supported, and an effort made to provide them with high class teachers. But as to the country schools of the present, the city dweller knows little. If they are inferior and inadequate, to the point that causes them to fail in their mission, nothing should be permitted to stand in the way of lifting them to a new plane. Were the schools of the land to function in the ideal fashion, illiteracy could not continue.

POLITICAL ADVICE

There being a vacancy in the Colorado senatorship, to be filled by the governor through appointment, several members of the democratic party made known their choice. They went so far as to request that their candidate be the one named. One who took such a course was ex-President Wilson. This caused some of the politicians on the other side of the fence to be seriously perturbed. What would have happened they demand to know, if Mr. Taft, before appointment to the supreme bench, had taken such a course. They predict that there would have been a yowl from the democratic press, and so, doubtless, there would have been. It would have been similar in volume and general character to the one loosed by the republican press relative to the act of Mr. Wilson.

Politicians do not play fair. That which they would do themselves, and glad of the chance, they will condemn another for doing. This is part of the game.

Mr. Wilson has the status of a private citizen. He is interested in the welfare of his party. If he is able to give a suggestion that he believes would be helpful to the organization, he has a perfect right to give it. So would Mr. Taft have had before his elevation to the bench placed him outside the ranks of active parisans.

If a girl can make a man jealous it's a sign she has him going.

OUR DUMB BROTHERS

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Do you take your children to see moving pictures in which animals are the comedians?

If you do, read what follows. I got it from an unquestionable source and if the picture company which perpetrated some of the cruelties here enumerated knew who gave me the facts somebody would lose a job.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

Nobody loves animals better than I, and their appearance on the moving picture screen has always delighted me, that is, it did delight me until I met the person who "wised" me up to some of the cruelties incident to securing comic effects in which animals are the performers.

Overlooking the evident cruelty of a bull dog chasing a terrified cat until it is exhausted and the "uplift" of a comedy in which a macaw is biting an unfortunate cat's tail almost in two we will come to a picture in which a number of horses were ridden to death or had their legs broken in terrible leaps or falls down mountain sides.

I myself witnessed a picture in which a beautiful horse was made to fall down a steep declivity and, I learned on inquiry, that he was afterwards shot because he was so terribly wounded. A friend of mine, very prominent and also humane, protested to one of the directors about running horses to death in a certain much patronized film. He replied brutally that they "were old horses and no good anyway."

Exactly what the Spanish bull fighters say about the animals they take blindfolded into the bull ring to be gored to death.

How are we better than the Spaniards at whose bull fights we raise pious hands?

Also and incidentally, when you see a moving picture where a poor little kid is tied to a stake as bait for a carnivorous beast remember that the scene has been rehearsed many times and at each rehearsal a baby goat was sacrificed. It's atrocious.

But worst of all is this story, and it is true.

How many of those who laughed uproariously at a goat dancing in the screen would have laughed had they known that the poor creature was dancing because ammonia had been poured into its ears? Blood was running out of its eyes, ears and nose as it danced.

Can any of you imagine what that means? I don't have to imagine. Once through an accident ammonia was poured into one of my ears. It was horrible; I thought my head would burst in spite of the fact that remedial agencies were promptly applied I was ill for days. And the amount that got into my ear was very, very small.

Irene Castle and Mary Pickford refuse to allow animals in their pictures, and it seems to me that it is time we should ask how some of these comical effects at which we thoughtlessly laugh have been secured.

Am I my brother's keeper? You are, and most especially when your brother is dumb and defenseless.

In case anybody thinks I enjoy writing this kind of thing I'll confess that I cried all the time I was reading the communication that called forth this editorial.

And I have not written the half of what I know.

Yesterday's Error

"To see one through" means to watch, guard, or aid him to the end . . .

Right: "To see one through" means to watch, guard, or aid one to the end . . .

Vocabulary

The New Standard Dictionary says that prototype is "a primitive form or rude and general design in which subsequent forms are traced; also, a work, original in character, afterward imitated in form or spirit, or a person who was an original of a kind exemplified later by others."

Queries

J. J. C., New York: "In the following sentences should the present or the past tense be used: 'I have received your letter in which you refer (referred) . . .'; 'I have received your letter in which you state (stated) . . .'? I would also appreciate a rule to be followed in determining the tense to be used." Answer: Refer and state are correct. You have received the letter, it is before you, and you speak of the reference from the standpoint of what you see before you, and not in the light of his having written the contents sometime in the past. On the other hand, the following is correct: I received your letter in which you stated . . . (that is, if the letter has been destroyed).

Virginia E. Flynn, Rockville Center, L. I.: "I was astonished, on looking up in the dictionary the word ate, to find its pronunciation given as et. I had always thought it should be ate, a as in mate. Please tell me whether or not I am wrong." Answer: The pronunciation of ate is disputed. Ate (as as in mate) is preferred by The Century, Webster's, Worcester's, New Imperial, Hunter's Encyclopaedic; et (e as in get) by New Standard, New English, and Stromonth. Some authorities give either one as correct. The Right Word prefers ate (a as in mate).

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

Afraid, my boy?
Of what?
The world?
Nothing in the world to be afraid of but yourself.

And you need not be afraid if you choose not to be.

* * *

The world is really a very friendly place.

After you get acquainted with it.

Like a lot of people.

Friendly after you get to know them.

Not unfriendly before perhaps.

But rather waiting for you to show your colors.

* * *

So with the world.

Friendly if you will have it so.

Offering you sunshine and fresh air for the taking.

And bread and cheese for the working for it.

And sometimes a bit more than bread and cheese.

* * *

There is always work waiting to be done.

And always your chance to do it.

So many things to do in the world.

And not too many people to do them.

Although too many people often seeking to escape doing them.

* * *

The best thing you can have to make friends with the world is a willing spirit.

A friendly spirit.

A spirit that wants to help.

The spirit that wants to do.

You may have that spirit if you wish.

If you see clearly and look ahead.

If you do not want to be president of the bank or general manager of the factory in the first week.

If you are willing to do things as they come to you and work your way up.

* * *

The world will not do you any injustice.

It will establish your value.

And pay you generally in the right coin.

You may do the world an injustice by withholding your services.

Your good nature.

Your friendliness.

* * *

After you establish yourself with the world you will find it filled with splendid people.

People much like you.

Working away at the day's work.

Not idling and shirking and complaining.

But working.

* * *

There will be cloudy days.

There will be times of struggle.

There will be doubt and wonder.

But you will have to keep your good nature and spirit and keep on working.

And you will find the secret of happiness.

* * *

That is it, after all.

To keep your good nature and spirit and keep on working.

Not to want too many things.

Not to want what you do not earn.

Not to live beyond your means.

Not to get into debt.

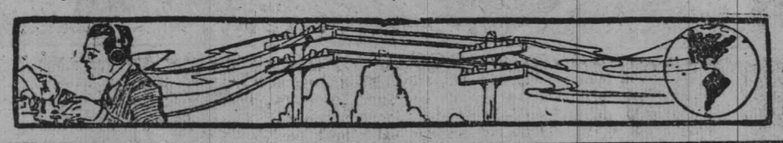
If you do, to get in for a right purpose, and to get out again as soon as you can.

Live simply.

Smile easily.

Work earnestly.

And stick on the job.



Songs of the Poets

Serenade—By Edward Coate Pinkey

Look out upon the stars, my love,
And shame them with thine eyes,
On which, than on the lights above,
There hang more destinies.
Night's beauty is the harmony
Of blending shades and light:
Then, lady, up—look out and be
A sister to the night!

Sleep not!—thine image makes for aye
Within my watching breast;
Sleep not!—from her soft sleep should fly,
Who robs all hearts of rest.
Nay, lady, from thy slumbers break,
And make this darkness gay,
With looks whose brightness well might make
Of darker night a day.

PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE fifth Pan-American conference is now on at Santiago, Chile.

Here are some things most of us know but of which we all should be reminded:

Secretary of State Hughes would be the chairman, if he had attended, because he is ex-officio chairman of the Pan-American Union, an organization which is in continuous existence. On account of the duties of his office he was unable to be present.

The United States has seven delegates at the conference.

The United States called the first conference of American republics in 1889.

There are twenty-one republics on the American continent. All except Mexico, Bolivia, and Peru are represented at this conference.

Canada is not a member of the Pan-American Union, although she is practically as much of a republic as is the United States. She is legally a self-governing dominion of a kingdom.

Peru stays aways because she has been having some trouble with Chile.

Bolivia stays away for the same reason.

Mexico refuses to attend because our government has not recognized her government.

Latin America likes Europe better than the United States. Why?

Latin America's population will soon exceed ours. The other Americas want immigrants and we discourage them.

Less than 20 per cent of American land belongs to the United States.

Spanish is spoken everywhere in Latin America except in Brazil, where Portuguese is the language. There are a few exceptions to this:

Brazil is larger than the U. S. A. Argentina is one-third as large, Mexico one-fourth, and Bolivia one-fifth.

The Institute for Public Service says, indicating our dependence upon the other Americas, that Cuba is our sugar bowl, Central America our chewing-gum tree, Mexico and Central America our colored-candy bug, Mexico our oil well and cattle ranch, Argentina our wheat field and cattle range, Brazil our coffee and rubber plantation, Venezuela our asphalt bed, Chile our fertilizer field, and Bolivia our tin mine.

Distrust and bad blood between the United States and Latin America are due to a very simple cause. It is because they think that we think we are superior to them. Always that kind of thinking makes trouble.

Nothing has pleased Latin America more than the fact that an Argentinian prize fighter recently beat an American prize fighter. It is easier now for them to like us.

Latin America has higher mountains than we have, larger waterfalls, richer mines, greater forests.

The present conference ought to result in much good, as it is always helpful for nations, as well as people, to get together and talk things over.

Isolation is not a policy, it is a curse.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

MORAL TRAINING IN SCHOOLS

[Salem News]

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, recently published in Current History an article in which he deplored the lack of adequate moral training in the public schools. Many observers of modern life feel that a great lack exists at this point. Opinions differ as to whether there has been a decline in moral standards during recent years. But the great prevalence of crime, the easy way in which a multitude of people violate their marriage vows, the existence of widespread dishonesty, indicate that young people need better moral training.

It does not accomplish much to fill school pupils' heads with all kinds of information and literary culture, if they go into the world with the conviction that crooked conduct is all right "if you can get away with it." The world may not be growing any worse, but it has always been in need of reformation from the days of Adam. Yet if you attempt to introduce any new line of training in the public schools, teachers and superintendents throw up their hands in despair. They say that their courses are already so filled with subjects that the pupils are doing superficial work. Yet moral principle is the most basic element in citizenship. It would be better to throw out some study altogether or cut down the time required by others if necessary to introduce some substantial training in the matter of moral obligation.

No school is doing its full duty today unless it gives its pupils an idea of the obligations that rest upon every American citizen. An observance of the ordinary principles of morality is the first of these obligations. If pupils do not leave school with the idea that honesty, truth, justice, loyalty and sympathy are qualities that they admire and desire to imitate, their education is fundamentally defective.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Billy Sunday upholds slang. His theory is that the vernacular is needed for the conveying of ideas. He believes that the vocabulary of the ordinary individual consists of from 300 to 500 words. So he proceeds from the pulpit to enrich this vocabulary by the patois of the somewhat extinct barroom, and the half-forgotten livery stable.

HENRY JAMES

Slang doubtless is necessary to Billy Sunday. If question arises as to the necessity for Billy Sunday, it may at this time be dismissed as irrelevant. But the slang he uses is not necessary to any worthy intelligence seeking to express itself. Simple and correct English is clear even to the person of restricted knowledge of words.

The effort to enlarge the vocabulary of the person limited in this respect, might much better be devoted to adding words acceptable by good usage. With such regard for the proponent of verbal ribaldry as may be due, it is fair to state that much that he says could not be regarded as other than disgusting if uttered in the presence of ladies and gentlemen in a home atmosphere. The small vocabulary may mark a person not devoid of the instincts of refinement. Therefore such a person is entitled to respectable and respectful treatment, and this Billy Sunday withholds. He denies the possession of intelligence on the part of his audience.

But for all this, slang, some slang, is useful and highly permissible. It is emphasis, piquancy and savor. The Billy Sunday brand of it merely shocks good taste, and draws a curious crowd.

A lady well known in this state sends back word from Africa that she has killed a lion. Others in the party have killed so many that the fall of the kings of beasts is as the showering of autumn leaves.

The exact purpose of butchering a lion never has been fully explained. Of course it would be a measure of self protection were it done by the native African. A resident of the United States, however, unless an animal-tamer by profession, is free from danger of attack by the creature. Which being the case, suggests that to let the lion live in the jungle and roar, would be a much finer courtesy than to invade its habitat and shoot it.

It is said that 400 June brides will be derived from the classic shades of the University of Southern California. Statistics are not at hand to show whether these figures indicate an increase of the matrimonial boom, or whether this is the regular climax of the scholastic year.

However, the theory that college girls do not marry, will have difficulty in squaring itself with the list.

Bolshevists are said to have seized Vera Cruz, Mexico, and to have elected a negro as mayor. Probably the report is untrue. If it is true, it naturally will interest the ku klux of the Texas border, who, far from electing colored mayors, hold the possession of color to be a crime.

It would be interesting to have the ku klux and the bolshevists meet. The battle would be spectacular, and the observer enjoy it immensely, quite indifferent as to the winner, and rather hopeful of mutual extermination.

County clerks of the state are proposing to join in the effort to prevent the marriage of children. They have had their feelings outraged by the parental practice of selling daughters, and committing perjury touching the subject of age.

Such marriages are lewd and disgusting crimes. Every one accessory shares the guilt. The officiating magistrate can't escape condemnation, and should be deprived of office. The depraved and perjured parent belongs in jail. If these little details were attended to properly, there would be a falling off in the unholy traffic.

Poor old Tremaine is reported as "in again." At liberty on bail after a charge of grand larceny, he has been arrested for petty larceny. The case is more interesting than the ordinary item incidental to police records. The intimation is made that the prisoner has been driven crazy by recent experiences.

Alberta Meadows, hapless victim of Clara Phillips, was the daughter of Tremaine. During the trial of the murderess, he was in constant attendance. He had to hear the fair name of his daughter traduced, to observe a woman who should have been hanged, let off with a light sentence. Even after this, the prison door was opened for her by some one, and she went free. Almost enough to drive any father crazy.

A resident of Fresno broke the family china upon the person of his wife. The fragment of a plate cut her severely. The trouble was explained as arising from a cold dinner. The police wanted the wife to make a complaint, but she declined to do so, and they arrested the husband anyhow. The woman refused to testify against the prisoner. He was fined $10. Lacking the sum himself, the wife produced it for him, and then the pair went away together apparently content.

Forgiveness is a practice much extolled. There is scriptural warrant for extending it to the erring as many as seventy times seven times, but this extremely rarely has been found acceptable; it so clashes with the ordinary conception of justice. Nevertheless the conduct of the wife on this occasion was nothing out of the common. Apparently she holds that a conjugal difference, even if carried to the extent of breaking the dishes against her, is strictly a household affair. Then it is possible that the chap has a certain value as a meal ticket.

* * *

A certain respect was earned by the New York actor who hanged himself the other day. He had shot his "sweetheart" in cold blood. The jury found him guilty of something less than first degree crime. The judge said "Twenty years." The prisoner said nothing, but he managed to hang himself as soon as back in his cell, which was a neat and appropriate climax.

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN DILGRIM

He used to be a clerk in one of the government departments during the, in a manner of speaking, late war. One day a desk was deposited in the hall outside his door. He needed a desk. Just that sort of a desk.

"Shall I make out a requisition for it, sir?" He asked the head clerk.

The head clerk is an old-timer in government circles. He recalled to his subordinate's mind the incident of the mule which was shot, and which upon inquiry proved to be the wrong mule. Whereupon forty-eight letters were written and the time of many men in wartime was taken up in putting the record straight.

"First take the desk," said he. "Then put in your requisition."

So he took the desk and put in his requisition. Time went on. He used the desk until it became warped and dull. He forgot about the requisition, the head clerk forgot about it, every one forgot about it except that department of government which answers to the mills of the gods, in that it grinds exceeding slow. Nineteen months after he had made the requisition the reply came back:

"The answer is 'No.'"

He didn't care by that time, for he was about ready to go out of the government service. But he had learned his lesson. Nowadays the man who pays him his weekly wage looks upon him with awe and approbation. He is the go-getter of the staff. When he is told to get something, or do something, he does not ask for permission. He first goes and gets. He then tells the world that he's got it. Half the time the world says it is all right. The other half of the time he is forced to pay a price.

"But the point is that in almost 100 per cent of cases I get what I go after," said he. "Whereas in the strictly conventional way I might average a bad third."

No doubt there is a moral which proves that he is entirely wrong.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF BURBANK AND ITS ENVIRONS

MRS. PARISH ENTERTAINS AT SPRING LUNCHEON

At one of the prettiest of spring luncheons, Mrs. Parish of the Santa Anita apartments, entertained 20 of her friends at the Montgomery Country Club Inn Thursday. It was a basket luncheon, with baskets of all sizes and colors for flowers and food. An immense basket of sweetpeas centered the luncheon table, and smaller baskets were at the ends.

Place cards were found in nut baskets hanging before a bird perched on a pedestal at each plate. Beginning with the fruit cocktail, which was served in an orange basket with cecil bruner roses for handled, followed by chicken a la king served in baskets made of bread, peas in turnip baskets, everything came in baskets.

Cards furnished the entertainment for the afternoon. Mrs. Roscup and Mrs. Coffman were the high scoring players and won pottery bases for first and second prizes, and Mrs. Dufer won the consolation prize of a tiny pottery vase.

The guests were Mesdames Roscup, Coffman, Dufer, Fischer, Zeiss, Barton, Stough, Griswold, Kahl, Story, Sence, Kline, Church, Wood, King, Wood, Woods, Mulvey, Radcliff, Strout and Cummings.

Thomas and Dr. E. N. Wilson will be the other speakers of the evening. Election of officers wil form part of the business of the evening.

WILL VISIT CANDY FACTORY

Burbank Boy Scouts to Inspect Bishop's

How does a chocolate drop and why and where, are the questions which the Boy Scouts will be able to answer after they visit Bishop's candy factory next Tuesday. Scout Master Thomas will take them into the factory in Los Angeles, where a guide will take them through the building and explain the processes of candy making. Not only are the boys interested in the sweet product itself, but they like to study the equipment and method of every step connected with the entire business.

Burbank school children have made a number of trips of inspection to various industries in the city. The guides have been very thorough in telling of facts connected with the plants and the pupils are quick to absorb the information. They obtain practical information and have learned many wonderful things about the city.

Watching the inner wheels go round in any factory is fascinating to anyone with a bump of curiosity but to see the inside of a candy factory ought to be one of the most interesting of all to children.

ARE DELEGATES TO MEETINGS

Many Burbank young people of the Presbyterian and Christian church attended the Christian Endeavor convention Friday evening at Pomona.

The young people of the Methodist church, about 20 in number, attended the lecture of Bishop McConnell at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, Thursday evening. After the lecture, under the chaperonage of Rev. and Mrs. Allen, they stopped for a wiener roast at Echo Park.

AVERAGE BUYER IS 33

The average purchaser of an auto is a married man, 33 years of age, has a bank account, and carries life insurance. He buys a $1400 car and pays $700 down, the balance at the rate of $100 a month.

Chapter U of P. E. O. will be entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Buffington on South Magnolia avenue.

HONEST TO GOODNESS, HE ISN'T DEAD!

Like Mark Twain, Thomas George Karahalis rises up to remark that news of his death is "greatly exaggerated." The ex-soldier, who is now a patient in the army base hospital at Arrowhead, Calif., says he was at home almost two years before his mother received this picture of his "grave" from the Red Cross, along with a note of condolence.

THE HOME GARDEN

Most Americans are familiar with the Chinese litchi nuts which find their way quite abundantly into our markets, in their dried state.

The litchi fruit is held in exceeding high esteem by the Chinese peoples, who eat it in different ways, but the tree is tropical in its cultural requirements and will not thrive excepting in the warmer, tropical regions of America.

However, there is a close, botanical relative to this litchi which will grow in California and of which it may be interesting to note a few characteristics.

This hardier fruit is known as the longan, and bears the bontanical name of Euphoria longana or Nephelium longana.

This fruit is rarely encountered in Southern California and has been grown in but a few isolated spots, but it gives promise of thrift in localities not subjected to severe frosts.

Under favorable conditions it has fruited abundantly in this state.

The writer has a photograph of a fruiting tree, taken in Hollywood some ten years ago, which shows a bushy plant of about twelve feet in height.

In its habitat the tree grows 30 or 40 feet high. The foliage is of pleasing texture and color, abundant, but of open character.

The leaves are compound with bright green, glossy leaflets occurring in from two to five pairs.

The flowers, occurring in loose panicles, are small and inconspicuous.

The fruit is round, an inch or less in diameter, with a single, central seed and white flesh surrounded by a brown, shell-like covering.

Opinions as to the quality of the fruit differ considerably. It is very popular among the Chinese.

Most Americans have not expresed fondness for it upon first acquaintance, although some pronounce it excellent.

It is said to be greatly improved by cooking or preserving.

If any of the readers ever encounters this plant in nurseries, or among those plants offered for distribution by the Bureau of Plant Industry at Washington, they may consider it to be on worthy of a trial in the milder regions of this land.

It has marked decorative value and unique economic interest.

It is evergreen in its habit, retaining its leaves throughout the year, and might be planted in the garden as a background against which lower shrubbery would be seen.

FOREIGN COUNTRIES BUY AUTOMOBILES

Australia and Belgium are the best motor vehicle customers of the United States. Australia bought the greatest number of American motor cars during the past year, taking 11,236, whereas Belgium was the foremost purchaser of motor trucks, with a total of 2824.

More than 82,300 American automobiles entered Quebec last year carrying tourists through the picturesque old French capital. This is twice the number of cars that entered the Province in 1921.

A couple of young Englishmen were trying to write a southern song to fit a vaudeville act for America.

"Now we mustn't foozle like Algy," declared one. "He wrote a song entitled 'Away Down South in Oregon,' and Oregon isn't down south at all."

The next day one of them met an American in the grill and asked him what state he hailed from.

"I come from down in Maine."

"Down in Maine?" was asked.

"Down in Maine," the other insisted.

Immediately the youngster bawled to his partner in the lobby: "Hi, there. Percy, I've got our location for a southern song."

Watch the fan and inspect it often for defective riveting at the hub. A loose fan blade may do a lot of damage to the radiator should it break.

MODERN LUPINS ARE BEAUTIFUL

Great improvement in the old-fashioned lupines and their use by florists as cut flowers has again popularized this plant for summer bedding. Where the perennial types do not flourish, often the annual kinds will furnish a beautiful display of color as well as fine spikes of their pea-shaped fragrant bloom for cutting.

Lupines must have plenty of moisture. It is useless to plant them in dry or sandy soil where they will be thoroughly cooked by the summer sun. They prefer a little shade.

As now developed, there are a large number of colors in the annual strains, ranging from blues and scarlets to whites with a number of varieties with the blooms tipped with white.

These annuals are not largely grown but are well worth a trial. If they flourish, they give a great show of bloom. Gardeners with a fairly moist soil will find them very attractive additions to their plantings.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER

Never park a car in the center of a highway, near a fire plug, at a street intersection, just around a curve or corner, on a hill, partly on the pavement, in a dark spot without lights, in front of a theater, on soft ground, nor near emergency entrances or exits of hospitals.

Little Willie was of an inquiring turn of mind. He was always asking questions.

"Daddy," he asked one day, "is today tomorrow?"

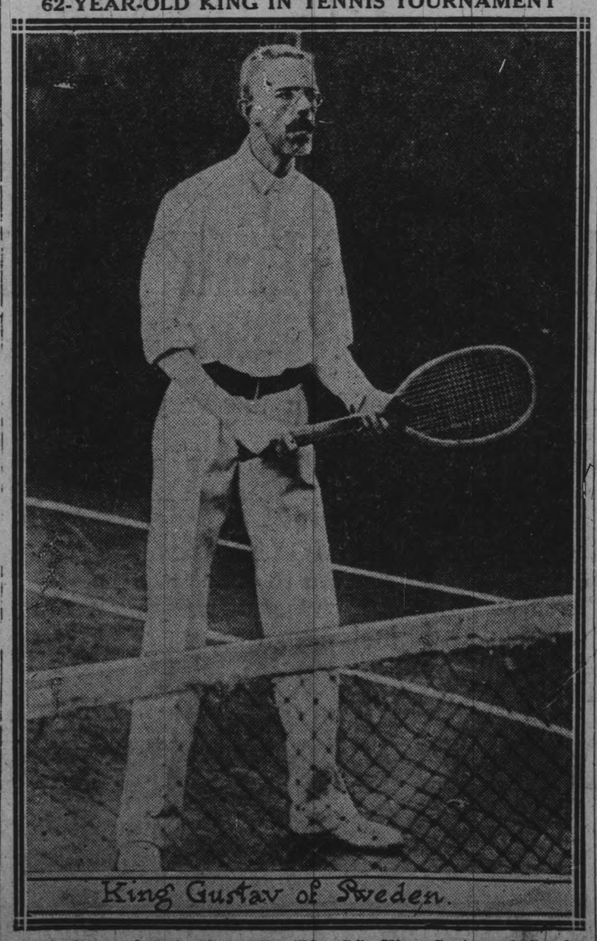
"But you said it was," murmured Willie.

"When did I say today was tomorrow?" asked father.

"Yesterday," answered Willie.

"Well, it was. Today was tomorrow yesterday, but today is today, just as yesterday was today yesterday, but is yesterday today, and tomorrow will be today tomorrow, which makes today yesterday and tomorrow all at once. Now, run along and play."

62-YEAR-OLD KING IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT



Playing under the incognito "Mr. G.", King Gustav of Sweden entered the Nice (France) tennis tournament, with A. C. Hunter, of England, as his partner in the doubles. Despite his 62 years, the king played a remarkably good game, but he and his partner were eliminated from the tournament by Colonel Dunkerley and M. de Shaves.

MAKE PLANS FOR JUNE 7

Harry J. Valentine appeared befor the directors of the chamber of commerce at their meeting Thursday evening and told them of the Bohemian Players plans. June 7, the players are arranging to stage "The Woman Hater," and they asked the chamber of commerce to buy 500 programs.

The programs are to be very elaborate souvenirs of Burbank, showing the progress made since the founding of the town. The chamber voted to support the community players to the extent of purchasing the programs.

The players organized some time ago with Dr. Haseltine as president and Mr. Valentine as director. The company has been holding weekly meetings for the play on June 7.

The Merchants exposition was another matter for consideration at the directors meeting. The contract will give the chamber 25 per cent of the admissions, 10 per cent of the concessions, and five per cent of the money collected from the exhibits.

President W. J. Riley was not able to be present and the vice president, J. C. Isbell, presided. Other members of the board present were Dr. T. F. Tillson, Walter Story, L. F. Collins, A. G. Graham, M. E. Gilbert, J. D. Radcliff and Secretary R. W. Colburn.

REALTY MEN OF 1875 WERE NOT PIKERS ANYWAY

Offered to Sell the Pacific Ocean Draped in Moon and Sunshine

LOS ANGELES, April 20 (United Press).—California real estate men with their never-ending ability to use all up all the colorful superlatives in the dictionary are generally supposed to be a modern institution.

But apparently the germ grows in the soil. At least it was going strong in 1875, if an advertisement by a real estate dealer describing the coast-line land he had for sale at Santa Monica, published in a small paper there in that year, is any indication. It read:

"On Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock, we will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder, the Pacific ocean, draped with a western sky of scarlet and gold; we will sell a bay filled with white winged ships; we will sell a northern horizon, rimmed with a choice collection of purple mountains, carved in castles and turrets and domes; we will sell a frostless, bracing, warm, yet unlanguid air, braided in with sunshine and odored with the breath of flowers.

"The purchaser will be presented with a deed to a piece of land. The title to the land will be guaranteed by the present owner. The title to the ocean and the sunset and the hills and the clouds, the breath of the lifegiving ozone and the song of the birds, is guaranteed by the beneficent God who bestowed them in all their beauty and affluence upon the land and attached them thereto by Almighty warrant as an incorruptible hereditament to run with the land forever."

There is no data to show whether or not the dealer sold any land.

PUPILS HEAR OF SEEN AND SAW

This week ended another Good English week for the children of the Helen Hunt Jackson school. This time "seen" and "saw" were the words which were drilled into the minds during the court exercises every morning.

A playlet in which one child wore the word "seen" was accompanied by other children bearing cards, "have," "had," and "has." These were playmates of "seen," but "saw" in blue letters, to express the blue mood of the character who never had the playmates accompany her, impressed upon the children that they are only to use "have," "had" or "has" with "seen."

This better English week is greatly enjoyed by the tots and Mrs. Swain has found that it has influenced them immensely. The burial of "ain't" sometime ago has not yet been forgotten and children when they hear older people saying "ain't" tell them that "ain't" has been buried and there is no such word.

This coming week the children will be taught kindness to animals.

LARGE NUMBER ATTEND BANQUET

More than 90 men gathered at the Presbyterian Brotherhood dinner Thursday evening to talk of organizing into a definite social society. The Ladies Aid society of the church furnished a dinner which pleased everyone present. After the dinner, Mr. Walker of Los Angeles spoke on the aims of a Brotherhood and the work that these societies do for the church and the community.

Following his address the men organized and chose Dr. T. McGuire for president, Earl Dort for secretary, and Richard Hill as treasurer. They were appointed as a committee to complete the organization, to report at the next meeting on by-laws, name and time of regular meeting.

The evening was considered very successful by the pastor, Rev. Thomas Stevenson and the members of the new brotherhood. The entire affair, beginning with the dinner, was permeated with the spirit of comradeship. Dr. George, who leaves for Portland soon, was asked to offer the invocation.

Moth balls are a hydrocarbon product of the distillation of coal tar. While the moth balls will dissolve in gasoline, and while their vapor is inflammable, they will positively add no "pep" whatsoever to your motor. In any ordinary quantity their use would not affect your motor in any appreciable way. Moth balls are all right in their place, but the place is the clothes closet and not the gas tank.

POLICE HUNT BOLD BAD MEN

Two Burglars Enter Burbank Homes During Daytime

The lady of the house at 443 North Olive avenue heard a knock at her door, but she did not care to answer the door and so remained very quiet, as you have done perhaps when you saw a caller at the door and you had on your morning house dress. Sometimes the caller has looked into the windows but this one inserted a key in the door. There was a double lock on the door and the key did not work so he went to the back of the house.

Just about this time the housewife decided it was a good time to step out to the back door herself. She asked the man whom he wished to see. He seemed very surprised, but recovering from the shock explained at a real estate man had told him the house was empty and he had come to look it over as he wanted to rent it for a home for himself, wife and children. With this explanation he left

Later, H. H. Harlow, at 445 North Olive avenue told the Burbank police force that his house had been entered at $26 had been taken. Upon investigation, the officers found that the neighbors saw two men enter the home and their description of one of the robbers tallied with the description of the man who tried his key in the door at 443 North Olive.

Furthermore, E. V. Davis, at 49 Verdugo avenue, reported to the police that sometime between noon and 6 o'clock in the afternoon some one had entered and taken two silk nightgowns, a flashlight and a thermos bottle. The Davis family though there was a silver lining to the burglary, however, for things of far greater value were overlooked.

Perhaps these same two bold bad men were the ones who rode away in the Ford car owned by Dr. Dungsten, a carpenter, who had left his auto parked in front of the Hotel Elizabeth for a few minutes while he went inside.

NEWS OF EAGLE ROCK CITY

NATIONAL GARDEN WEEK BEGINS TODAY

Eagle Rock Residents Will Be Urged to Grow More Dahlias

Tomorrow will begin National Garden week. The Federated Women's clubs of Southern California are promoting the drive for the planting of flowers, and shrubs all over this section of the country. Every club will put on special programs to boost the success of this enterprise. Exhibits of the home grown variety of horticultural wonders and beauties will be encouraged in each community, to further the commemoration of Arbor day.

It is felt by those taking the most active interest in this drive that Southern California is the natural garden spot of the world. Here in Eagle Rock, an extensive campaign will be carried on to interest citizens in home gardens. Of the flowers which they will be asked to plant, the dahlia will of course be the most popular. The dahlia in Eagl Rock has a special distinction owing to the fact that Eagle Rock is "The Dahlia city," so named because of the nationally known dahlia farm conducted here by J. J. Broomall. The soil and general climate is especially fine for the dahlia and like plants, and this year, more than ever before, a large amount of interest will be worked up among the property owners to makes their homes as attractive as possible so that Los Angeles will be proud of this section and anxious to make it one of the show places of the district, artistic and well kept up.

And aside from this desire of those in charge to get the city in attractive order, there will be an endeavor on the part of those promoting the move to plant the desire in everyone to get out in the rich brown soil and work among the green growing things. Later on there will be a flower show where the products from the gardens will be shown.

Small Ralph, hearing a number of frogs in a pond making a hideous noise, exclaimed: "My goodness, but the froggies must sleep awfully sound!"

"Why do you think so?" asked his mother.

"'Cause they snore so loud," replied Ralph.

The average woman will jump at sight of a mouse almost as quickly as she will at an offer of marriage.

"The Church and the Cults" will be the theme Sunday morning at 11. What is the sign of the times in the many modern cults which have risen? It is an evil omen, or is it a symptom of some ailment in the church? Is it a cause for alarm or sober thought? Many very harsh things have been said about the cults by men representing Jesus Christ. Should we endorse such utterances or not? A careful analysis is essential.

SCATTER TACKS ON ROADS

DOUGLAS, Ariz., April 20.—Tacks by the thousand are reported to have been scattered for miles along the Bankhead highway in Southwestern New Mexico, between Lordsburg and Granite Pass. Garage men are not suspected of taking this method for securing business, and there is fear that a maniac has been responsible for the conditions that send a score of machines limping into the nearest repair shops.

LEGION AUXILIARY HAS SOCIABLE EVENING

The American Legion Auxiliary had an enjoyable time at the joint meeting with the Legion men last night in the library club room. Preceding the evening entertainment, the Auxiliary had a business meeting, during which the men played pool. So many matters were brought up at this meeting, that most of the evening elapsed before the meeting adjourned. The games planned were dispensd with and humorous stories told about the tables while the pineapple sherbert and cake were being served.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Ethelbert Reed resigned as historian of the organization, and Miss Katherine Besselo was appointed to take her place. About 22 Legion and Auxiliary members were present for the social.

'SAY IT WITH CEMENT,' SLOGAN

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 20—Little Center College, from the hills of Kentucky, is spectacular in everything it does. That is one large reason why Center is no longer little. With a spectacular football team that appealed in every way to the imagination, Center blazed her name in big letters all over the country and her team grew right out of Danville.

Center is going out after a new stadium and the college leaders are going about getting it in the same spectacular way. A campaign slogan of: "Say it with cement," was adopted, and friends were asked to "kick in" with a barrel or two. More than $20,000 was raised around Danville, but that will not be enough.

"Uncle Charley" Mordan, the football coach, who mends the shoes of his boys and sews their uniforms, went about the new project with the same vim and enthusiasm. Uncle Charley and his footballers did all the grading of the field and they are going to do as much in the actual construction of the stadium as they can.

Approximately 18,000 barrels of cement will be needed to build the stadium, and it comes at $3.15 a barrel. One section costs $500. The "Prayin' Colonels" want some of their friends in the east to:

"Say it with cement!"

ENGLISH MOTOR FEES

Approximately $70,000,000 is collected annually in England in motor license fees. The government uses these funds for building and repairing roads.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT, SAYS ROGER BABSON

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., April 21, 1923.—Roger W. Babson is very optimistic on the immediate outlook. Since returning from his inspection trip, he has been going through the mass of reports and figures which accumulated on his desk during his absence. These statistics are even more encouraging than he had anticipated.

"American business has certainly waked up!" according to the statistician. "The Babsonchart showed nearly 4,000,000 men out of employment a year ago. Today it shows practically no unemployment. Where the blast furnaces were then being banked—new furnaces are now being started and premiums are being paid for prompt steel deliveries. The copper industry is showing activity for the first time for several years and many of the miners have been given a wage increase of 50 cents a day. Building is still booming and the 1923 figures will exceed any previous year, notwithstanding the big volume of 1922.

"The most remarkable change in sentiment I find right at home here in New England. A year ago the mills were cutting wages and great numbers of workers were out on strike. Today the mills are working overtime and the largest concerns are advancing wages. Of course, this is an unhealthy sign for the long pull because it is due only to the artificial barrier on immigration. On the other hand, increased wages are a great temporary stimulus to trade. The purchasing power of many cities is simply the total of these cities' payrolls. Increasing wages in New England's mills of 12 1-2 per cent, increases the purchasing power of the communities to almost a corresponding amount. This means that these manufacturing centers will—during 1923—be the best places to send salesmen, because most wage workers spend all they get. Moreover, such salesmen should be sent to these cities at once, because the present boom cannot be long-lived. It is not based on a firm foundation. Many of these men now getting an increase in their wages will be out of work before 1923 is ended.

"While coming north last week from my winter home at Mountain Lake in the beautiful Ridge Lake section of Florida, I saw cotton being planted in Georgia. It is evident that the south is very happy with the present price of cotton and that a larger acreage will be planted in 1923. Corn planting has started in the southwest and the seeding of oats is seen throughout the south and southwest. Winter wheat, doubtless, was killed to some extent last month in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Kentucky; but these fields will soon be replanted—for even the farmer is feeling better than he has felt for some years in spite of the fact that he is not yet out of the woods. His great difficulty was that the price of what he had to sell went down so much more than the price of what he had to buy. What the farmer wants is higher produce prices or lower merchandise prices. Now to have merchandise prices go up still higher in 1923, as everything indicates will be the case, the farmers must get higher prices for their 1923 crops or else there surely will be another collapse in 1924. We cannot get good business by disregarding either the multiplication tables or the ten commandments.

"The Ruhr invasion is also helping spring business over here in America. For the first time in history, except during the Great War, we are shipping coke to France and Germany. Japan, which had ordered great amounts of steel from Ruhr mills, is now turning to the United States. Europe, which last year had turned again to production, is now busy playing politics and watching the exhibition of a war pageant staged in the Ruhr valley. While Europe is indulging in this luxury, she must eat and live. Hence, France and Germany are again buying goods in America as the export figures issued shortly by the department of commerce will clearly show. How long this situation will last, no one can tell; but it is helping us here in the United States.

"Spring business is also being increased by the belief that congress will not be in session again until December, and then for only a short session. Whatever the motives of our politicians may be, the fact remains that they are a great drag on the prosperity of America. Under our present system of government, the only reason we have any prosperity is because of our tremendous natural resources. Our forest, mines, fertile fields, and other great gifts of God enable us to afford to indulge in factional legislation and political log-rolling as a pastime. Hence, when we cease this selfish game for nine months, business almost always piles up. Certainly this is one of the chief causes for optimism today.

"I am very hopeful for immediate business," concluded Mr. Babson, "as the robins come back and the trees leaf out, business will be good, and all of us prosper. I only add, let us be sure not to abuse this prosperity, or the Babsonchart, which now stands at 4 per cent above normal, will quickly drop back."

$9,000,000 FOR GOOD HIGHWAYS

During the year 1922 the state of Massachusetts spent a total of $9,000,000 for the improvement of its highways. A total of more than 212 miles was constructed or reconstructed, the mileage being approximately the same as in the year 1921. Of this 32 miles were of cement construction, 78 miles were of bituminous macadam with asphalt, 21 miles were of bituminous macadam with tar, 16 miles were of bituminous concrete, 2½ miles were of waterbound macadam, and 62 miles were of gravel. A small portion of the work had been started in 1921. Massachusetts also reports the remarkably low maintenance of ½ cent per square yard.

AUTO SECRETARIES TO MEET IN CHICAGO

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—Four hundred automobile trade association secretaries and managers are expected to attend the first national convention in Chicago, July 23 and 24. The definite dates for the conference were announced today by the National Automobile Dealers' association which is arranging the conference. An advisory committee of association managers from St. Louis, Cleveland and Chicago adopted the dates and outlined a program. Assurances have been received by the national association headquarters from more than 100 secretaries and managers, that they will attend.

The big feature of the conference will be that the program will be made up entirely by association secretaries who have made noteworthy success in one or more major activities of the trade association programs.

The details of the program will be made kown in a short time.

NEW FIRM TAKES OVER LOCAL OAKLAND SALES

W. WRAY FREDMAN COMPANY NOW HAS CHARGE OF DISTRIBUTING THIS POPULAR CAR TO BUYERS IN THIS CITY

Everything Is Ready for B ig Business, Says Sales Manager McCarty; "Dinty" Moore Heads the Modern, Well-Equip ped Mechanical Dept.

The H. Wray Fredman Auto company, 219 West Colorado, has just taken over the Oakland agency for Glendale, and is now equipped to offer to the Glendale motor-buying public one of the best cars on the market today at a moderate price.

Mr. Fredman, head of this company, now living in Glendale, has been for the past several years, engaged in the automobile business in Los Angeles, and he knows it thoroughly. It was only after looking over the automobile market thoroughly that he decided to "take on" the Oakland. For years he has watched the performance of this car and as a result of this study he has decided that this is the car for him.

"There are two things that caused me to take on the Oakland in Glendale," said Mr. Fredman this morning. "One is the wonderful popularity and the sterling worth of this machine; the other is the wonderful possibilities in Glendale."

Mr. Fredman has four models on the floor now—a touring, a sport, a sedan and a coupe. He says he hopes to be able to get enough cars to supply the Glendale public. The Oakland factory is at this time turning out 250 cars every day.

The service department of this new concern is maintained under the direction of Harry T. Moore, generally known as "Dinty" Moore. Mr. Moore has been for many years in the auto repair business, and for the past six years has specialized on the Oakland. The shop is fully equipped and guaranteed work is done at reasonable prices.

William E. McCarty, sales manager of this firm, has a thorough knowledge of the automobile business. His well-based confidence in the Oakland car and his reputation for fair and honest business policies are sure to win success.

While speaking of the Oakland car today, Mr. Fredman said:

"The Oakland Six has the distinction of being the only motor car on the market that is sold on a Mileage Basis plan. It is also covered by two definite guarantees, the standard manufacturer's warranty and the special Oakland 15,000-mile guarantee. The inherent excellence that makes possible the sale of Oakland cars under such unusual provisions lies in the mechanism itself; the guarantees and the Mileage Basis Plan are simply a reflection of the fine qualities of the car.

"Mileage is the essence of motoring service. It is the end and object for which every detail of every part is built. It is the basic aim of every motorist who buys a car. It is the criterion of motor car value.

Engine

"Because the Oakland overhead-valve engine is highly developed, it yields exceptional power and operates with a fuel economy that is unusual, even in a car of lighter weight.

"Six cylinders are employed because their overlapping power impulses give a smooth, even torque to the power flow that insures great flexibility and freedom from vibration.

"The cylinders are honed as a razor is honed, with abrasive and oil, so that perfect roundness and perfect smoothness of surface are assured.

"Oakland pistons are of the round, split skirt type, with diagonal slot. They are made of the highest grade of aluminum alloy, of unusual hardness, and because of their design are fitted closely in the cylinders.

"Oakland piston rings were developed at the Oakland factory. There are two complete rings to each of the two lower grooves. These rings are so constructed that they actually compensate for wear, maintaining a constant seal between the sides of the rings and the ring grooves, as well as between the rings and the cylinder walls, thus preventing excess of oil from getting into the combustion chamber. This is not possible for any great length of time where one-piece rings are used.

"That is why Oakland engines do not "pump" oil (a condition quite common in motor car engines) and why Oakland is able to guarantee against excess oil in the combustion chambers for 15,000 miles.

"Oakland valves are made of the finest material obtainable, an alloy steel of special formula—a new development which far surpasses any other material designed for the purpose. Heat will not warp them and as Oakland engines are free from excess oiling troubles, it is seldom necessary to grind the valves more frequently than every fifteen or twenty thousand miles, if they are adjusted with a clearance of .008 inch.

Gasoline and Carburetion System

"Oakland's gasoline supply is furnished through a vacuum tank system, with a 12-gallon tank on the rear of the car. Its most notable feature is the automatic heat control in the carburetor heat jacket, by means of which the gasoline mixture is properly vaporized, in any climate, before entering the intake manifold. This heat control operates in conjunction with the foot throttle, and may be adjusted to suit weather conditions. In cold weather it is closed at low speeds to give maximum heat for city driving, but opens gradually as the speed increases to prevent overheating the mixture during long runs at high speed. The carburetor is of the latest design, and with its ingenious heat control, the Oakland engine has less condensation from fuel during cold weather than any other car in its price class.

Electrical System

"Oakland's electrical system is composed of a two-unit starting and lighting system, with ignition distributor and storage battery. The distributor has a semi-automatic advance spark control to prevent the danger of driving with fully retarded spark, even if the spark lever is not advanced. The generator has a thermostatic output control, automatic in its operation, giving greater output in cold weather, when the battery is lowered in efficiency. The entire system is so simple that, with minor adjustments and replacements, it should last as long as the car.

Cooling System

"Oakland's cooling system is notable, because of the uniform temperature of the cooling water maintained by pump circulation. The pump is located on the front of the engine and is driven independently of the generator and distributor.

BREED AUTO BILLS WILL PROBABLY PASS

Passage of the Breed bills for providing funds for the maintenance of the highways of California will doubtless be adopted. An agreement has been reached between supporters of the bills and commercial interests.

This agreement provides for highway maintenance financing on the following basis:

A three-dollar uniform registration fee for all motor vehicles.

A two-cent gasoline tax.

A weight tax on commercial trucks ranging from $10 to $40 on trucks equipped with solid tires and from $5 to $20 on pneumatic tired vehicles.

This financial plan will produce $37,000,000 in the next two-year period, which is the amount officially requested by the state highway commission to preserve California's investment in improved highways.

The motor vehicle conference, supporting the Breed bills, and the commercial interests have also agreed on a gross load limit of 22,000 pounds on improved state and county highways, with power delegated to both to increase this limit. This agreement does not affect the right of the supervisors to reduce this limit on dirt roads, nor the right to charter cities to increase the limit.

All other features of the Breed motor vehicle bills have been generally agreed upon and the bitter legislative battle expected over automobile legislation is no longer feared.

The commercial interests have reserved the right to introduce an amendment permitting trucks now operating and weighing in excess of 22,000 pounds to operate for a limited period with somewhat increased loads. Irrespective of the fate of this amendment, however, the motor vehicle conference and the commercial interests have agreed to support the Breed bills.

This agreement was reached at a conference attended by the following: Supervisors Thomas McCormack and W. O. Russell, representing the County Supervisors' Association of California; D. V. Nicholson, assistant secretary, California State Automobile Association; David R. Faries, general counsel, Automobile Club of Southern California; A. C. Hardison, president, California Farm Bureau Federation; Roy Compton and Charles Pratt, representing the Automotive Conference, the legislative organization of the commercial interests, and Dave F. Smith, representing the Motor Car Dealers' Association.

THE TAX FROM AUTOS IS LARGE

The report of the State Division of Motor Vehicles for 1922 showed:

Total receipts of the department for the year were $8,262,987.35.

The report is for the 11 months ending December 31 last. Total receipts from motor vehicle registration were $7,824,058.75. Receipts in the transfer and operators' fund were $438,928.60.

TIPS FOR TOURISTS

A click in the coil usually denotes a leak in the condenser.

STOP-LOOK-LISTEN, PEDESTRIANS

No one is so blind as the pedestrian who simply will not see.

Nothing is so trying to the motorist as to have the person on foot step quickly out from the curbing without looking in either direction, and go plunging across the street.

When finally the horn of the auto brings the offender to his senses, he—or she—begins dodging backward and forward, completely confusing the person who has hold of the wheel. Once in a while the pedestrian lives to tell how "careless the motorist was."

A large number of pedestrians are killed by automobiles every year. Some were entirely to blame; others were victims of careless driving on the part of motorists. Probably half of the accidents in which pedestrians are struck by automobiles can be attributed to "careless walking," instead of careless driving.

Too often the man on foot is inclined to take chances. He crosses the street intersections against traffic, springs out onto the street between the corners from between automobiles, and in many other ways invites trouble. Very often he gets what he very deliberately asks for—then he sues the motorist. Trying to squeeze money out of innocent motorists is one of the indoor sports of modern times.

Many motorists are careless in the way they pilot their machines. Very often they are solely to blame when accidents occur. The speeder, the corner-cutter, the man who violates any one of the state traffic laws is a menace. When convicted of any of these violations he should go to jail.

But how about the pedestrian who takes chances. A standard set of laws governing the actions of pedestrians on the streets and highways of the cities of the land, might not be out of place. Surely laws of this kind would assist in decreasing the number of accidents, which number is increasing with the coming of more and more automobiles into general use.

Just a word picture: A child is permitted to play in the street, (and there are entirely too many who are granted that privilege) the little one steps in front of the approaching car and is injured. The mother runs screaming from the house, picks up her babe and places the blame for the accident on the motorist, who, probably, was innocent.

Another—the business man intent on the work on hand, rushes out of his office and across the street. As he emerges from between two autos he is struck by a passing machine. Very often the cause of the accident was said to be "careless driving." Folks seldom think of attributing the trouble to "careless walking."

A certain percentage of responsibility rests with the man on foot. Let him not overlook that fact.

DANGEROUS AGE IN AUTO DRIVING IS TOLD

Officials of the safety bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California have proved the matter of "the dangerous age" in automobile driving, to secure official data for a huge safety drive planned for Los Angeles in the near future and have found some very pertinent facts in the matter.

The world's most dangerous age for motor car operators is somewhere between 21 and 44. More persons within the radius of these age limits have been injured in auto accidents in Los Angeles than for any other ages. It is believed by the auto club officials that this "dangerous" period holds true for all other cities in America, where motor cars are operated.

It is found in the same research work that the least dangerous age is 65 and over.

From 45 to 64 is the next most dangerous age in the life of an automobile driver. This tabulation is for the average motorist wherever he may be found.

It is shown in club figures just issued that out of 413 accidents reported to the police, 300 happened to individuals between the ages of 21 and 44, while 61 involved drivers from 45 to 64 and 49 happened to drivers under 21 years of age. Only three people over 65 were reported injured.

It is shown that out of 904 drivers who were involved in accidents during a single week in Los Angeles, only 413 already mentioned gave their ages in making reports to the police department.

OVERCHARGING OF BATTERY CAUSES TROUBLE

The effect of overcharging a storage battery is to cause disintegration of the brown plates. In a badly overcharged storage battery, the plates become so brittle that they crumble up with the least vibration. The driver may know that the battery is overcharged if at the end of a long run the battery is warm and if the battery is inspected befor the engine is stopped it will be found to be gassing (bubbling) freely. Electrolyte reading with a hydrometer are of no use in determining if a battery is being overcharged, because the gravity of the electrolyte cannot show a higher reading than fully charged, as many batteries have electrolytic readings of 1250 no matter how badly overcharged the battery may be, the electrolyte could become no stronger than the gravity. If a battery is being overcharged two things should be done: First discharge the battery for about two hours by burning all of the lights while the car is standing idle. Do not make the common mistake of burning your lights in the daytime while running. The only effect this has is to decrease the rate of charge, but continues to overcharge and destroy the plates. Second, have the output of the generator reduced. For touring, 10 amperes is sufficient for a six-volt battery of medium size.

MOTOR VEHICLES IN U. S.

The United States, with 12,281,445 motor vehicles, has a larger registration than the combined total of twenty-seven foreign countries.

STREAM FISHING TO BE GOOD IS PROMISE

Planting and restocking of waters located in national parks throughout the country promise one of the biggest fishing years on record, says an announcement made by the Department of the Interior.

The streams and lakes are expected to be fairly teeming with trout and other game fish at the various parks when the season begins and the parks are thrown open to anglers. A bulletin issued by the Department of the Interior giving the open season and the character of fishing at the national parks in California follow:

A variety of trout in lakes and streams makes fishing enjoyable sport. State fishing license required, fees, resident, $1; non-resident, $3. The limit of a day's catch per person is twenty-five fish or ten pounds and one fish, or one fish weighing ten pounds or over. Season from June through September.

Rainbow, steelhead, Loch Leven, cut-throat and golden are the varieties of trout found in the Sequoia Park, and park waters are restocked ; fees, resident, $1, nonresident, $3. The limit for a day's catch per person is twenty-five fish or ten pounds and one fish, or one fish weighing ten pounds or over. Season from June to October.

Few anglers during the summer and autumn use bait in fishing the lakes and streams of Yosemite, but depend upon the artificial fly. The California Royal Coachman almost always proves the best lure. Early in the season grasshoppers and salmon eggs are used for bait with success. Ten species of trout in relative order of abundance are rainbow, eastern brook, Shasta, Loch Leven, cut throat, steelhead, brown, Dolly Varden, golden and Tahoe. State fishing license required: fees, resident, $1; nonresident, $3. The limit for a day's catch is twenty-five fish or ten pounds and one fish, or one fish weighing ten pounds or over. Park waters are extensively restocked in co-operation with the State Fish and Game Commission. Season from May to October.

DRAGGING BRAKES MAY CAUSE FIRE

If brakes are permitted to drag, the brake lining and brake drums will be worn down unnecessarily. If the drag is pronounced, sufficient friction heat may be generated when the car is on the road to burn the paint off the brake drums, and surrounding parts, and in certain cases actually to start a fire. Trying out the brakes, with the rear wheels jacked up, will reveal such dragging, and will also show whether the right and left wheel brakes are operating alike.

Automobile owners are taking a chance if they fail to see that their brakes are well inspected every 500 miles, or thirty days, depending on the use to which the car is put.

This is the best time in the year to have an automobile overhauled.

Touring Department of Auto Club of Southern California Gives Latest "Dope" on "N. O. T." From Los Angeles to New York

National Old Trails, Los Angeles to New York city: One of the road crews of the touring bureau of the club has just covered that portion of the National Old Trails from Los Angeles to Trinidad and reported conditions as follows: Pavement from Los Angeles to Victorville; good desert road from Victorville through Barstow to Ludlow; Ludlow to Amboy, rough in places. The road on the north side of the railroad between the latter points is better than the one on the south. Amboy to Needles, excellent; Needles to Topock, thence via Oatman to Kingman, excellent.

Speedometer 00.0 at Kingman. Good dirt and graveled road thru Hackberry to 34.5 then one mile of rough road past the Truxton Indian school; then excellent road into Peach Spring—52.1. Excellent dirt road from Peach Springs to Seligman, 90.5. Good gravel road from Seligman to Ash Fork—also very good into Williams. The highway from Williams east to Maine station is in excellent shape but at the present time it is impossible to get over the Maine station road to the Grand Canyon. Within a few days, however, it should be O. K. From Williams to the Canyon is fair to good for the first 50 miles, the last 14 miles being very soft and muddy in places; Williams to Flagstaff (34.7 miles) very good dirt road. Speedometer 00.0 at Flagstaff. Good dirt road east through Winona station and to Young's canyon (19 miles); thence rough and slow to Canyon Diablo (37.0); thence good to 53.0; thence rough and slow the rest of the way into Winslow 68.5

Speedometer 00.0 at Winslow. Good graded road through St. Joseph (22.) to Holbrook (33.5 miles). From Holbrook the Springerville route was used to Alberquerque. It is in excellent shape, with few exceptions, the entire distance to Springerville. Leaving St. John a new road is under construction. The detour avoiding that work follows the old road for 2 1-2 miles then comes a new detour for 17 miles which is a trifle rough in places. The last 16 miles into Springerville is very good. Speedometer 00.0 at Springerville. Good dirt road for 15.2 miles east to the New Mexico state line; from there for 8 miles is fair mountain road, a little rocky in places, then comes 22 miles of new graded road in good condition; then a narrow canyon road in bad condition is had through Quemado to a point of 60 miles from Springerville. Then comes 8 miles of good dirt road; then an excellent new graded road is followed to the summit of the Transcontinental divide at a point 85.2 miles from Springerville. From this summit through Datil (97.4) into Magdalene to Socorro excellent graded road. Speedometer 00.0 at Socorro. Fair to good dirt road for 10.2 miles; then graded and gravelled through Casa Colorado (44.9) Belen (53.3) Los Lunas (64.0) Isleta (73.4) to 79.2; then comes alternate stretches of pavement and dirt road into Alberquerque (81.7 miles). Pavement is had from Alburquerque (87.1) north to 97.3; then good graded road through Bernalilo to the foot of the La Bajada grade. The road over the grade, which is a distance of 1.6 miles, is in excellent shape from the summit of this grade an excellent improved dirt road is followed for 18.8 miles; thence pavement into Santa Fe.

Speedometer 00.0 at Santa Fe. Excellent graded road for 15.3 miles out of Santa Fe with the exception of two or three small detours around bridges. From 15.3 to Glorieta station 20.3 the road is rough and slow. The same condition prevails from Glorieta station for a distance of 5 miles; then good graded and gravelled road through Pecos to 31.5. From there it is necessary to detour for one mile around new bridge; then comes excellent road through Rowe, 32.6 and to 33.5. From there it is necessary to make a short detour; then comes good graded and gravelled road through Fulton, San Jose, and Vernal into old Las Vegas (73.4); thence pavement into Las Vegas proper, 74.1; pavement through town to 74.4; then good dirt and gravelled road through Watrous, Shoemaker, Wagon Mound to Springer, 148.5; thence detour out of Springer for 9 miles; balance good into Raton.

Speedometer 00.0 at Raton. Pavement through city limits; then comes excellent good gravelled road which winds and circles gradually to the summit of the Raton pass which is reached 9.8 miles from Raton. Colorado state line crossed at 10.1 miles; very good gravel road through Morley and Sparkville to Trinidad.

From Trinidad the main line of the National Old trail road east to Kansas City and St. Louis can be comfortably driven over during dry weather. From St. Louis east to the Atlantic coast the main line of the route has been improved with hard surfaced material and offers, almost at all seasons of the year, boulevard conditions.

REAR WHEEL NOISES

A scraping sound in a rear wheel is sometimes caused by sand working in between the brake band and drum, or more commonly by either inner or outer brake bands, or parts which operate them, being in contact with the brake drum.

CARLOAD OF CHEV. ROADSTERS ARRIVES

A complete car of Chevrolet roadsters has just been received at the Glendale Chevrolet agency, corner Orange and Colorado streets. During the past few months the various Chevrolet agencies around the country have been held up on account of the lack of delivery of cars, and C. L. Smith of the Glendale agency is extremely fortunate in securing this shipment just as the time the touring season is starting. Several of these cars have been reserved and the remainder will doubtless be sold within a few days.

25 to 30 Miles per Gallon by 'Chev.'

"Chevrolet" Smith says:

"Show me the man who is getting poor mileage out of his gasoline and I will show you the fellow who should be looking for a Chevrolet automobile.

"The 1923 Superior Chevrolet is one of the finest looking cars on the market, it is an easy rider, and is standing up like a million dollars, but the best thing about it is that its economy in gasoline cannot be surpassed.

"We have frequent reports from purchasers of Chevrolet cars to the effect that these people are making from 25 to 30 miles to the gallon of gasoline used. The mileage made on oil and tires, also, is usually large. They all seem to be satisfied with what they are getting out of their machines—and it is the satisfied customers we are after."

THE "TROUBLE SHOOTER"
Shows How to Locate and Correct any Automobile Engine Trouble
By E. H. SCOTT

This is the ninth of a series of specially prepared and illustrated articles showing the ordinary automobile driver how to locate any engine trouble

What To Do When the Engine Misfires or Hunts at Medium and High Speeds or Stops Altogether When You Try to Speed Up

And You Have Tested the Ignition, Plugs and Valves as Shown in Articles Six and Seven

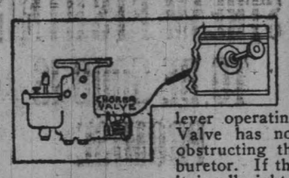
First, lift up the hood and examine the Carburetor.

If gasoline is leaking BADLY from the Carburetor follow the instructions given in article eight at A.

If the Gasoline is NOT leaking from the Carburetor then—

Open the Drain Plug at the bottom of the Float Chamber or hold the Float Valve open as shown in the illustration and KEEP IT OPEN FOR AT LEAST 8 SECONDS, TO SEE THAT THE GASOLINE CONTINUES TO FLOW IN A STEADY STREAM. If it STOPS flowing FREELY after a few seconds, then the trouble lies in the Vacuum Tank or its connections, and the instructions given in the second article of this series will show you how to find the exact part at fault. If, however, the gasoline CONTINUES to FLOW FREELY then—

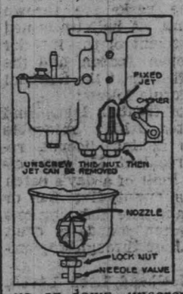
1. If you have been altering the adjustment of the Carburetor, you probably have it adjusted too rich, so cut it down to make it leaner. If, however, you HAVE NOT touched the Carburetor adjustment, do not touch it yet, but SEE—



2. The Choker Button on the dash operates a Valve in the main air entrance to the Carburetor. Examine to see that the wire leading through from the Choker button is FIRMLY ATTACHED to the lever operating the Valve. Make sure that the Valve has not jarred PARTLY CLOSED, so obstructing the entrance of the air to the Carburetor. If the Valve is straight across as shown, it is all right so—

3. If the Carburetor has an Air Valve, start the engine and gradually open the throttle, noticing if the Valve opens up with the speed of the engine. See ESPECIALLY that it does not start to STICK when it gets open about half way. If it does it will make the mixture too rich at High Speeds. If you HAVE NOT got an Air Valve then—

4. If Carburetor has a Needle Valve Gasoline adjusting screw which is held tight in position by a lock nut, see that the nut is not loose, thus allowing the Valve to vibrate open, so making the mixture too rich. If you can move the Valve around with the tip of the finger, then test the adjustment, by following the Carburetor maker's instructions on adjusting Carburetor. If, however, the Needle Valve is TIGHT, then—



5. Test to see if the gasoline spraying Nozzle in the Carburetor is not partly blocked. There are two types of Nozzles, the Fixed type which are called Jets, and the Adjustable type, which have a Needle Valve. The illustration shows both types. Consult the carburetor maker's instructions on clearing a jet if possible.

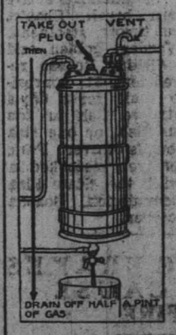
If you have a fixed Jet as in a Zenith Carburetor, turn off the Gasoline, then unscrew the Plug underneath the Jet and it can be screwed out. If the Jet is partly blocked, DO NOT use a piece of wire to clear it, as this may make the hole in the Jet slightly larger, and upset the "tune" of the Carburetor. Try and blow or jar the dirt out

If you have an Adjustable or Needle Valve Gasoline adjusting screw that can be screwed up or down, unscrew the locking nut a trifle, then screw the valve out EXACTLY TWO TURNS. Now set the throttle lever WIDE OPEN but PULL OUT the Choker, then turn the engine over as fast as possible with either the Starter or Hand Crank about ten times, then push in the Choker and turn the Needle Valve back EXACTLY FOUR TURNS.

Now see if the engine will run any better. If it DOES NOT then—

6. Take out all Spark Plugs and examine the gaps to see that they are set correctly. They should be just a trifle LESS than the thickness of a WORN dime. If gaps are all right then—

7. Turn off the Gasoline, then drain all that remains in the Float Chamber of the Carburetor into a cup or can, and examine to see if there is any water in it. If there is, it will be noticed lying in little globules at the bottom of the can. If there is any sign of water, then drain some gasoline from the bottom of the Vacuum Tank, and some from the bottom of the Main Tank and it will generally get rid of the trouble. If, however, there is NO SIGN of water then—



8. Examine the end of the Vent Pipe on the Vacuum Tank to see that it is not plugged up. If it is free, then look at the hole in the cap on the Main Tank to see that it is free also. If both are all right then screw out the small Plug at the top of the Vacuum Tank and also drain off about half a pint of gasoline from the bottom of the Vacuum Tank, then start the engine. If it now runs smoothly and regularly, the Float in the Tank is punctured or the Suction Valve is not seating properly, and will require a good mechanic to repair. You can drive home or to a repair shop by leaving the plug out of the top of the Vacuum Tank and driving until the engine stops, when the gasoline in the Tank will have been used. Just replace the Plug in the Tank and turn the engine over about a dozen times or until the Tank is full, then take it out and drive on again, continuing in this way until you can reach a service station or repair shop. If, however, it makes NO DIFFERENCE in the running of the engine whether the Plug is IN or OUT, then—

9. Remove the Muffler and take it apart and clean it, or tap it all around with a wooden mallet, then FULLY RETARD the Spark Lever and race up the engine a few times when most of the loosened Carbon will be blown out. It is better, however, to take it apart and clean it.

10. Check up the Ignition Timing as shown in Article Four, No. 2. If it checks up all right, then—

11. Test the Carburetor adjustment to see that the mixture is not either too rich or too lean. Consult the instruction book issued by the makers of the Carburetor or that issued with your car. It is advisable for the average man to have an expert adjust the Carburetor if possible, as it requires experience to do it properly. At a later date we will give you instructions how to "tune" up a Carburetor when you find that this has to be done and you cannot get expert assistance.

NEW AGENT FOR RICKENBACKER IN GLENDALE

The Rickenbacker auto is in Glendale.

A. M. Schoffner, who has been in the automobile business for the past several years, has just taken over the agency in Glendale for the Rickenbacker car. He has located at 120 South Maryland avenue, where he is explaing the merits of the wonderful machine he represents, to dozens of interested motorists daily.

In securing the agency for the "Rick" in Glendale, Mr. Schoffner believes he has picked the cream, both in the car and in the place to sell it. He likes Glendale. He has been here for some time and the more he sees of this city the better he likes it.

When the idea of combining Glendale and the Rickenbacker came to him, Mr. Schoffner realized that in the pair he had two genuine thoroughbreds. That's why he is so happy today. He knows he has a "sure-fire" combination.

Here are the 54 leading points of the Rickenbacker:

Seven effective cross members. Gas tank protected from rear end collisions first by tire and next by rear cross tube, then by rear stamping. Only car under $2,000 using the frame hung on rear spring feature. Rigid muffler support. Rigid battery carriers. Only car under $2,000 using differential brake equalizer, greased for life. Steering wheel all wood with latest design control lever. Main load of chassis and spring taken on strong arch construction cross member. Deep frame side rails and wide at points of maximum strain. Widest rear spring on any car under $2,000. Light but strong rear and front axles to reduce unsprung weight. Body supported on reinforcing brackets in frame.

Automobile speeders found guilty of driving faster than 30 miles an hour in Cleveland, O., have the alternative of serving minimum sentences in the workhouse or forfeiting the right to use their cars for from thirty days to six months.

STEP CAREFUL YOUNG FELLOW

LOS ANGELES, April 21. (United Press).—If you are an automobile driver, the chances are 800 to 1 against your being in a fatal accident this year. These odds are uncomfortably narrow, but in 1914 they were much lower, being only 356 to 1, according to automobile mortality statistics made public here today.

Motor authorities explain these figures by pointing out that the increase in the number of cars has cut down the ratio of fatal accidents per car. Besides that, they add, the 1923 auto is much safer than the 1914 model. It is easier to handle and its braking facilities are better.

The airplane type radiator is of the cellular design, cooling effectually during the hottest weather. The first contributes to smooth engine performance, the second to gasoline economy.

Clutch

"Oakland's cone clutch is light in weight, positive in action, simple in operation and adjustment. It performs all of the duties of a clutch in the simplest possible manner. It has a ball bearing throw-out and is lubricated from the driving compartment by a convenient oil kip. At long intervals it will need a new leather lining. Otherwise it will last for the life of the car.

Transmission

"Oakland's transmission is of the selective sliding gear type, with heat-treated gears of chrome vanadium steel and ball bearings on the main drive shaft. Rarely gets out of order and is built to last for the life of the car.

Frame

"Oakland's frame of pressed steel has channels 6½ inches wide, with four stout cross members. It will last for the life of the car.

Axles

Oakland's front axle is a heavy drop-forging, I-beam section, reversed Elliott type. The rear axle is the one-bearing, full-floating type, with spiral bexel gears, Hyatt High Duty roller bearings, and ball thrust bearing on differential; double row ball bearing at front end and single row at rear end of driving pinion. Should last for the life of the car.

Brakes

"Oakland's brakes are external contracting and internal expanding, 12-inch diameter, with broad surfaces. They are positive, adjustable and well equalized, with little wear except on the linings. The convenient adjustment not only takes up the wear of the lining, but adjusts the band clearances. They will last as long as the car.

Wheels

"Oakland wheels are of the twelve-spoke, artillery type, except sport models, which have disc. Disc wheels may be had on any model at extra price. Front wheels have special New Departure ball bearings, which take the side thrust, and Hyatt High Duty roller bearings are on the rear wheels. Should last for the life of the car.

Chassis Lubrication

"Oakland uses the Alemite system of chassis lubrication, which forces grease at several hundred pounds pressure into bearings and bushing, at the same time pushing out accumulated dust and grit. An important factor in Oakland's long-wearing qualities.

"Oakland's steering gear is irreversible, operated by worm and half nuts. An exclusive Oakland feature is the dimming device incorporated in the neat control box on the steering wheel. This permits of dimming the headlights without removing the hands from the steering wheel. Well lubricated and simply adjusted, with drop-forged steering connections, the Oakland steering gear should last as long as the car.

Springs

"Oakland's springs are semi-elliptic, underslung in the rear, 1 3-4 inches wide. Front springs are 36 inches long, rear, 51 inches long. These springs are made of special spring steel, designed to give maximum easy-riding qualities. If the spring clips are kept tight, the springs will last indefinitely.

POPULAR MOON CAR IN DEMAND HERE

There are several new Moons in town.

During the past few weeks the prospective motor car buyers have called on the Moon agent, R. W. Runde, 800 East Colorado, before making their selection of a car. Runde, who is thoroughly acquainted with the car he is selling, had little difficulty in proving to these people that the car they were looking for was the Moon.

"The Moon has so many wonderful features," said Mr. Runde, when seen this morning, "that there is really little that can be said in the way of argument against it. Real headwork has been shown in the designing and building of this car. It is a machine in which no one can pick a flaw, and there are not many cars of which that can be said.

"Since I came to Glendale there have been all kinds of inquiries for the Moon. During the years the Moon has been manufactured it has gained a real name for itself, and it is this reputation that sells the car. We do not try to sell our machines to anyone who calls. All we have to do is to tell of the advantage and to point out the different features of the machine. The prospective purchasers do the rest."

MAXWELL SERVICE SHOP IS COMPLETE

The purchaser of a motor car today must be satisfied not only as to what is in the automibile that he is buying, but in the service he can expect after his purchase.

Service does not mean something for nothing, but doing what the purchaser wants done intelligently, economically and promptly. This means that the successful automobile dealer today must have a service station equipped with all modern devices to cut down labor costs in making repairs and adjustments.

No automobile has ever been designed that does not require some occasional repair and adjustment, and every automobile owner wants that work done as promptly and with as little labor expense as possible. "Realizing this necessity, we have equipped our shop so as to handle service and repair work for Maxwell-Chalmers owners at a minimum of labor expense," according to Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor company, 124 West Colorado street.

"We have provided an ample stock of parts, so that the customer does not have to pay for the time of a man going into the city to pick up what parts are necessary in his service and repair work," says Mr. Clark.

"We have established the flat rate system, so that Maxwell-Chalmers owners can now get a flat rate on nearly any repair work that should be required on their cars. This means that the owner knows exactly what the repair work is going to cost him in advance and eliminates the possibility of excessive charges.

"It is through the boosting of the hundreds of satisfied Maxwell and Chalmers owners in this territory, that our business has increased so rapidly and you now see so many Maxwell and Chalmers cars on the streets in and around Glendale."

TAKE THAT "BUM" AMATURE TO GARAGE

It is practically impossible for a person without instruments to test an armature. It requires a "growler," an ammeter and a test lamp at least. If the commutator is dirty and the brushes worn out, or fitting poorly, you can help by cleaning and sandpapering both. You may have high micas and if you understand undercutting will probably improve the working of the generator by so doing. See that there are no uninsulated wires touching the inside of the case, inspect the pole pieces and see if the bearing are permitting the armature to drag on them. Probably your trouble is too deepseated for a layman to repair, if these measures fail.

BATTERY WISDOM

Use the purest water when adding to the solution in the storage battery to replace losses by evaporation. Because the electrolyte sometimes bubbles over, the solution should never be more than one-half to three-quarters of an inch over the tops of the plates.

REPLENISHING BOILING RADIATOR

Never pour cold water into a hot, empty radiator without having the engine running. Fill the cooling system by pouring in a gallon of water and waiting several minutes before adding any more. Cold water coming in contact with hot cylinders will crack them.

REPLACEMENT OF VALVES

When removing valves from an engine for any purpose, it is of the utmost importance to keep them separate and replace them in the identical seats from which they were removed. Failure to do so will result in leakage and may cause the clearance between the tappets and stem ends to be wrong.

OLDS HANGS UP WONDERFUL RECORD

On May 15, 1922, W. W. Rowland, known to Wisconsin motorists as "Brownie," the automobile editor of the Milwaukee Journal, started on his annual tour over Wisconsin roads. In previous years, he used heavier, more expensive cars than the Oldsmobile, but on this, his seventh annual trip, he choose the Oldsmobile Model 47, light eight, for the hard grind ahead of him.

In exactly 26 days, "Brownie" covered 8,064 miles, traveling over every state and county highway in Wisconsin. This first tour of over 8,000 miles marked the beginning of the 50,000-mile road test through which this, now famous car has passed.

"Brownie" operated on a schedule, having set a period of 30 days as the time limit, but the light eight carried him through in 26 days, and the only trouble encountered on the entire trip was the breaking of two rivets in the spare tire carrier. This broke all of "Brownie's" previous records both for speed and absence of trouble.

Tod Houle, who accompanied "Brownie" on his trip took the light eight at the end of the 8,064 miles, and in 123 1-2 days of actual running, he ran the total up to 50,000 miles, covering practically every road in Wisconsin and Northern Michigan, or a distance equal to twice the circumference of the earth or 16 1-2 times across the United States from coast to coast.

The average daily mileage for the entire distance, including the "Brownie" tour, was 334 1-2 miles. The greatest mileage in a single day was 636 miles, while the lowest mileage in a day was made within the city of Milwaukee, where but 19 miles were possible in city traffic.

Only three sets of tires were used during the run, and the third set still had several thousand miles of service left when the test was completed. Thus, a conservative estimate places the average tire mileage at 17,000 miles per set.

The oil in the engine was not changed any more frequently than in the case of the average driver, and figures on oil consumption for the test show that the average was 500 miles per gallon. Accurate records of all oil and gasoline consumed were kept, which shows that fuel consumption averaged 15 1-10 miles per gallon, which is exceptionally good, considering the fact that most of the driving was done at high speed, which, as every driver knows, are not the most economical as to oil and gasoline consumption.

Unsurpassed Northwest Extends Arms to Tourists

Northwest Tourist association, who reports that most of the roads in the northwest are now open for travel and are in good condition. Such scenes as a glimpse of Mount Rainier, in Rainier national park, in Washington; views of the Kamloops district, or mainland of British Columbia.

Great Influx of Sightseers Will Spend Holidays in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, According to Herbert Cuthbert

Tourist travel by highway, rail and water to the scenic wonderlands of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia this year is expected to smash all records, according to Herbert Cuthbert, executive secretary of the Pacific Northwest Tourist association, with headquarters in Seattle.

Mr. Cuthbert has been analyzing business conditions in Southern California with respect to the effect on travel to the northwest this year.

Eight hundred thousand tourists are expected to come into the northwest this year, according to Mr. Cuthbert, and of that vast number 300,000 will travel in 75,000 automobiles, and they will motor over roads in the best condition ever.

Less than 200 miles of the 1660 miles of the Pacific highway from the Canadian boundary to the Mexican line remains to be paved, giving Pacific coast residents the longest stretch of paved highway in the world, and penetrating a region that for scenic magnificence admits of no equal anywhere.

Motor cars are moving along the Pacific highway between Los Angeles and points in Washington, Oregon and British Columbia in great numbers right now, and when the spring travel reaches its height the highway will be alive with motorists, said Mr. Cuthbert.

California is contributing the greatest percentage of visitors to the Pacific Northwest, and with the betterment of highways the flood of travel will increase. The great volume of tourist business is havinging a marked effect on better transportation facilities in the Puget Sound country.

Mr. Cuthbert is probably one of the best known men in his line of work in the United States and it was through his indefatigable efforts and broad experience that travel to the northwest has been so greatly increased.

OVERLAND PAINT JOB IS BEST EVER

The painting job on an Overland sedan is a thorough one in every detail. To begin with, all exposed parts are given one coat of linseed oil before leaving the woodshop. After the bodies are panelled, they are sent to the rubbing deck where they are thoroughly brushed with Rexo dust and grease remover and rubbed with steel wool to remove all rust and grease. They are then washed off with hot water and dried with compressed air, after which they are wiped off with a rag that has been dipped in alcohol, turpentine or gasoline, and then dried with cloths.

The bodies are next placed in a drying oven where they are subjected to a temperature of 125 degrees to 175 degrees, Fahrenheit for one hour; the temperature used being dependent upon the percentage of moisture content allowed in the lumber from which the body parts are made. In this phase of the operation a great deal of care is exercised to prevent excessive heat, warping, checking or case hardening of the wood parts.

The moulding is brushed with a wire to remove any possible traces of rust or grease remover, which might be present after washing and which would cause trouble if not taken off.

The bodies are then cleaned with tack rags, after which all metal and wood parts are given one coat of Dibble Sanoil Primer applied with an automatic air spray before being placed in the drying oven where they are subjected to a temperature of 140 degrees to 165 degrees Fahrenheit for three or four hours. While the bodies are in the oven, care is taken to keep the moisture content of the air as constant as is possible to prevent checks, loosening of the joints or case hardening, as these defects if allowed to materialize would affect the life and construction of the body apart from causing a bad appearance.

After coming out of the oven, the body is given one coat of Dibble Sanoil glazing putty, which is thinned to a past or liquid consistency by adding turpentine. The parts not subjected to rough wear are puttied with liquid applied with a brush, while the parts that are subjected to rough wear, such as the cowl, rear deck, doors and panels, are knifed with a putty knife to remove all dents, file marks or scratches. These parts are given a coat of liquid, brushed on after the initial set of the paste is secured. This combines the two coats into one and insures a smooth surface which will readily sand out and not clog the sandpaper. Following this, the body is placed in a drying oven and subjected to a temperature of 150 degrees to 160 degrees Fahrenheit, for one and a half to two hours.

After coming out of the oven the body is then sanded out with a good grade of sandpaper which is selected to conform to the job to be sanded; besides being cleaned with compressed air and all dust and particles removed from the surface, the body has one coat of Dibble Sanoil surfacer put on with an automatic air spray and again is placed in an oven and subjected to a temperature of 150 degrees to 160 degrees Fahrenheit for three to four hours. When taken from this oven the body is slushed on the inside with Masury's inside black applied with a brush and allowed to dry for three hours.

BROADWAY SUPER STATION IS ACTIVE

One of the active places of business in the eastern part of Glendale is the Broadway Super Service station, located at the corner of Broadway and Cedar street. The boys of that establishment are on their toes every minute of the day and way into the night. Since this station was opened several weeks ago the business done there has grown to wonderful proportions. The proprietors are more than pleased with the reception they have been given. The usual service they have been giving the motorists of that section is being appreciated by the recipients.

One of the owners of this station, C. H. Messenger, was formerly an employee of the Hooper Service station at the corner of Louise and Broadway. The three boys who operate the service depot understand the business from one end to the other. They have only the very best of products along their lines and these they dispense at honest prices, giving full measure to every customer.

Hercules gasoline, standard oils and greases, accessories of all kinds, tires, tubes, and batteries, are some of the things that are being sold at this gasoline depot. This station operates on a satisfaction or money-back basis.
